Thai 'Copter Crash Kills Sodus Flier

Air Force First Lt. Laurence E. Froehlich, 25, an honor graduate of Benton Harbor High school and the U.S. Air Force Academy, died in the crash of a CH-53 helicopter in Thailand Tuesday.

Lt. Froehlich was co-pilot of the large military helicopter.

Word of Lt. Froehlich's death was received by his wife, the former Jo Ann Gerencser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gerencser, 2290 River Bend road, Fairplain.

Mrs. Froehlich has been living with his parents since she returned from a visit to Thailand late last year. The couple was married here June 10, 1972.

Lt. Froehlich was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Froehlich, 3495 Hartman road, Sodus.

Details of the crash were sketchy, but the family was informed that the helicopter was lost from radar and there was no radio contact. Another helicopter spotted the crash scene 36 miles southwest of Nakhon Phanom airport in Thailand.

The family was notified in a written communique from Brig. Gen. Walter D. Druen, Jr., deputy chief of staff, military personnel, U.S. Air Force. The communique indicated more details, including the return of the body, would be forthcoming.

The family said they heard 26 lives were lost in the crash, including four crewmen. Cause of the crash hasn't been revealed.

Lt. Froehlich was graduated from Benton Harbor High school in 1968. He was graduated and commissioned from the U.S. Air Force Academy in 1972, and in 1973 received a master's degree from UCLA, majoring in business administration, while in service.

Lt. Froehlich took helicopter training at Ft. Wolters, Tex., Ft. Rucker, Ala., and Hill Air Force Base, Ogden, Utah.

After final flight training, Lt. Froehlich was sent to Thailand, last June 24. His tour of duty was to have ended in about six weeks. He had planned to remain in the Air Force as a career officer.

In high school, Lt. Froehlich starred in football and baseball. He served as senior class president and held memberships in the high school math club and National Honors Society.

He was graduated with honors from the Air Force Academy.

Funeral arrangements are pending return of the body. The family requests that, in lieu of flowers, memorial donations be made to Michigan Lutheran high school. The family belongs to St. Paul's Lutheran church, Sodus.

Lt. and Mrs. Froehlich were married in June, 1972. Besides his wife and parents, survivors include two brothers, Allen Froehlich, Hollywood, Fla., and Edward Froehlich, Muskego, Wis.; and a sister, Mrs. Jerry (Jane) Morris, Hartman road, Sodus.

Marines Rescue Ship, Crew In Swift Military Maneuver

Two Yanks Die, Eight Wounded In Attack On Cambodia Isle

WASHINGTON (AP) — All Marines who took part in the helicopter assault on a tiny Cambodian island to recover a U.S. merchant ship and its crew of 40 have been evacuated to a Navy carrier in the Gulf of Thailand, the Pentagon said today.

Despite heavy small-arms fire from Khmer Rouge troops and the fall of darkness, the last helicopter carrying troops left the island at 9:10 a.m. EDT, a spokesman said.

Pentagon spokesman Joseph Laitin said two U.S. destroyers continue to cruise close to the shore of Koh Tang to insure that no Marines or helicopter crewmen were left ashore.

The evacuation of between 150 and 200 Marines had been delayed by enemy fire which drove away first helicopter attempts to pick up the troops who landed on the island 30 miles off the Cambodian coast more than 14 hours before.

The Pentagon spokesman said he believed U.S. fighter planes and Navy destroyers had ceased their attacks, designed to suppress the enemy fire.

Meanwhile, the unarmed container ship Mayaguez steamed toward Singapore under operation by its own crew.

Pentagon officials said earlier the ship was bound for its original destination, the port of Sattahip in Thailand. But officials said they were informed later by the ship's owners, the Sea-Land Corp., that it would head for Singapore.

He said the first rescue helicopter landed on the island after dark.

"Apparently the remaining security guard forces were evacuated by helicopter," he said.

Meanwhile, President Ford formally reported to Congress that Cambodia's seizure of the ship, the Mayaguez, was an "illegal and dangerous act" in clear violation of international law and that his authority for using military force to recover it was his constitutional power as commander-in-chief of U.S. armed forces.

Speaker Carl Albert said the two-page report was delivered to Congress at 2:30 a.m. today.

The President's report contained an outline of the Marine landing on Koh Tang, recapture of the ship and bombing on the Cambodian mainland.

It gave no information on casualties.

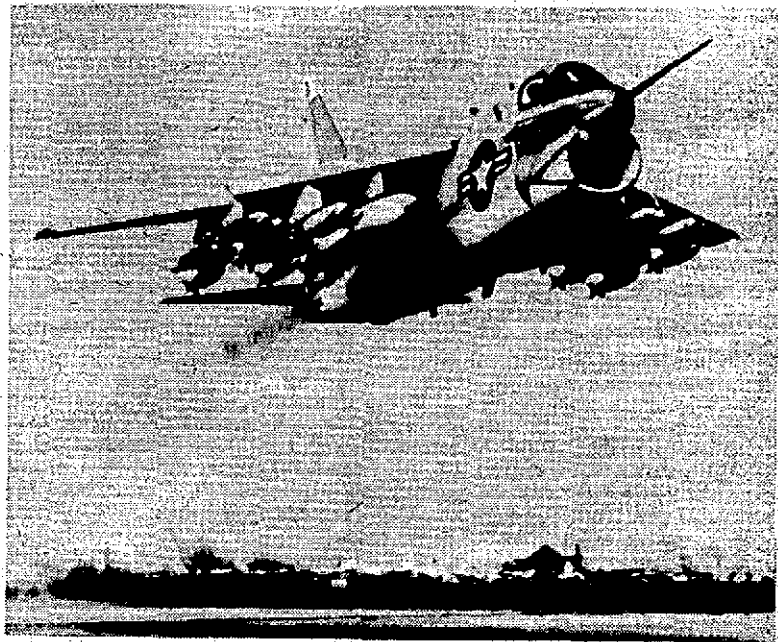

Ford said U.S. air strikes at the military airfield at Ream "and other military targets in the area of Kompong Som" were conducted to prevent Cambodian forces from sending reinforcements from the mainland against the Marines who had landed on Koh Tang to recapture the ship.

Albert said he believed Ford's use of military force under his authority as commander-in-chief was legal.

"There wasn't any other way to get them," Albert said.

Shortly before word came of the Marines' evacuation, two carriers and a half dozen other U.S. warships were reported steaming toward the tiny island off Cambodia where the

Scouts Will Sell Or Lease St. Joe Service Center

The Southwest Michigan Council of Boy Scouts has announced its plans to dispose of more property — the Scout service center at 2920 Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph.

Paul Kehoe, president, said the service center will be offered for sale or lease by sealed bid subject to approval of the council's executive board. Bids on the building are due May 28.

Yesterday, the Southwest Michigan Council announced plans to sell a seldom-used 80-acre tract at Camp Madron near Buchanan and other parcels at camps in Kalamazoo county.

That property will be sold, to acquire funds to update present camp facilities to state and federal requirements for the summer, Kehoe said.

The service center in St. Joseph will be sold, according to Kehoe, because the Boy Scouts' requirements for space have been reduced since the consolidation of the Southwestern Michigan Council into the new Southwest Michigan Council headquartered in Kalamazoo. The Boy Scouts will attempt to negotiate for their own use meeting rooms in the present building with the sale or lease of the building, Kehoe said.

The 4,400-square-foot service center, built in 1963, was constructed through private subscriptions at a cost of $105,000. The L-shaped structure includes nine offices, a conference room, meeting and work rooms and a large lobby.

Congress Hails Ford's Decision

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders of both parties voiced support today for President Ford's successful use of troops in forcing Cambodia to surrender a captured American merchant ship and its crew.

Chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill., of the House Armed Services Committee called Ford's actions in securing the return of the Mayaguez and its 40-man crew "a great success and a tribute to a show of strength. He got the results he deserved and it was a great boost to the country."

Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said, "I am sure the people will support the President, and if Congress is listening, I am sure they will too. He's shown he is a strong President and a man whose resolution held up under stress."

White House officials said Ford would report to Congress later today in accordance with the War Powers Act on military steps used to force release of the ship and crew. The 1973 law limits use of troops to 60 days in the absence of a declaration of war and requires that the President give Congress a written report within 48 hours of any

Homosexuality Could Become Legal In State

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Homosexuality and all sexual activity among consenting adults would be legal in Michigan under recommendations by a blue ribbon panel.

Many of those sexual activities now are felonies with penalties ranging up to life in prison for some offenders.

The 73-member Michigan Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice recommended, however, that prostitution remain illegal.

The commission said homosexuality, sodomy and adultery among consenting adults should be removed from the criminal statutes. Recommendations, which came on a voice vote, are forwarded to Gov. William Milliken.

As for homosexuality and sodomy, the commission said: "The archaic statutes dealing with the 'abominable and detestable crime against nature' can be repealed as unnecessary."

Proposals have been made in Lansing to repeal indecency laws related to consenting adults in private, the commission noted.

Homosexuality and sodomy now are felonies, punishable by up to 15 years in prison or, for "sexually delinquent" persons, from one day to life behind bars.

The commission said the state should continue its ban on sexual relations "in public places, soliciting, procuring and selling of sexual acts."

The age of "consenting adults" should be revised from 21 years to 18 years in line with action three years ago lowering the age of adulthood, the commission added.

The state has no business regulating the sexual activities of married couples with third persons, the commission added in recommending that adultery

Pleads No Contest To Forgery

A Lincoln township industrial builder pleaded no contest, this morning in Berrien Circuit court to a charge of forgery of a $4,528 check.

Placed on presentence investigation was Richard E. Fairleigh, 39, of 1332 Timberlane drive, Lincoln township. He was arraigned on the charge before Circuit Judge William S. White.

At the time of his arrest, Fairleigh identified himself as vice president of International Wood, Inc., Goshen, Ind. He was also president of the now defunct Century Development corporation, St. Joseph and is currently president of 76 Suppliers corporation, Goshen, Ind.

Fairleigh allegedly forged the name of Gordon Absher, president of another corporation based in Ohio, on the back of a check which also bore his own signature.

The check was written to Ajax Metal Building and 76 Suppliers by a savings and loan firm. It was deposited in St. Joseph.

Absher, president of Ajax Metal Building, is complainant in the case, according to the warrant.

Red Cambodia Tweaks Uncle Sam's Beard

As this is written, the White House is maintaining strict silence on how it might handle the latest insult to the U.S. from lands and waters in which the American presence is decidedly not wanted.

This is the Khmer Rouge seizure of the Mayaguez, an American registered and owned freighter, 60 miles offshore from the Cambodian mainland.

The seizure took place eight miles windward from a small rockpile, scarcely worth the designation of an island, whose ownership is disputed between Cambodia and Vietnam.

The geography creates a disputatious interpretation of the incident.

Technically, it could be passed off as a Cambodian assertion under international law that within the territorial sovereignty all countries assert over adjacent oceanic waters the host nation is free to welcome certain shipping and to expel others.

The fact that Vietnam argues the title to the island does not vitiate the rule.

More realistically, we suspect, the Khmer Rouge and some Commie allies beyond the Cambodian frontier are testing Uncle Sam's mettle.

Likely they are making a wider experiment.

Close to the Mayaguez's timing, the Khmer Rouge temporarily detained a South Korean ship and a vessel under Panamanian registry. Contrary to imprisoning the American crew, the Cambodians released the two ships and their sailors from detention.

The tension on what to do about this fairly clear example of piracy is best seen in Thailand's premier ordering 800 Marines flown to a U.S. base in his country right after the seizure to get out.

Sitting as it does next to Vietnam and Cambodia and with no defensive capability worth mentioning, Thailand would be an easy target for Communist aggression. Her premier, rightly, is nervous.

Some years ago the U.S. extricated a destroyer, the Pueblo, and its crew which some North Korean gunboats captured in a disputed territorial offshore zone. Some high pressure diplomacy, possibly backstopped by secret Russian maneuvering, effected the release, thus sparing our country the difficulty of fighting a two-front war in Asia.

Presumably the Administration may be probing this approach for the Mayaguez.

If it fails, the choice reduces to turning our backs to the incident or trying a military recapture which necessarily has every element of being the fuse to ignite World War III.

The options are distinctly unattractive.

So are the consequences of doing nothing.

Freedom of the seas is a right inherent to all nations and if one trespasser can pull off an infringement, then every country's internal safety is in jeopardy.

The Khmer Rouge has announced it wants no non-Cambodians, particularly Americans, in their country and in their affairs. On the surface, this declaration applies also to the Vietnamese, the Red Chinese, the Russians, the Thais and so on round the globe.

In time they will find this isolation to be self defeating.

For the moment it is to be hoped the Administration is left unfettered by Congressional quarterbacking on how to show the Rouge that impudence beyond the mainland also does not pay.

Tax Rebates Are Welcome, But Can Go Only So Far

With the mailing of the first tax rebate checks (to those thoughtful enough to file their income tax returns early) comes some advice from Washington about what the recipients might like to do with their largesse. After all, billions of dollars are being turned loose; a lot of people are watching to see where it goes.

One of the ideas being promoted by the President, no less, is to buy bicentennial bonds. These are the same savings bonds which have been available all along, dolled up a bit in a bicentennial theme.

Since the government in the coming year will be forced to borrow untold tens of billions of dollars (begin with $70 billion and project upward), naturally it wouldn't mind some of the rebates coming back into bonds. It would help with some of the debt refinancing problem to be met later.

But the auto industry, among a number of others, also is hoping some of the refunded taxes will come their way. Sorry, fellow, the refunds will be welcomed. But they will only go so far.

One Holiday Surviving

Every year Congress is solicited by various pressure groups to add to the list of legal federal holidays. The backers have in mind an individual or event they would like to recognize with a national observance. If public support can be generated the possibility is not entirely remote that another holiday will be added to the list.

This year Congress has the usual requests for new holidays but it is closest to acting on changing a present one. Ever since the Uniform Monday Holiday Act went into effect in 1971, changing Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Columbus Day and Veterans Day to Monday observances — and thus providing many Americans with mini-vacations — veterans groups have been highly critical of the movement of Veterans Day from Nov. 11.

Many of the state legislatures did not think much of the idea either. One by one the states went back to observing Nov. 11 as the one and only observance of the day the armistice was signed ending World War I. Later, the holiday was broadened to honor veterans of all wars.

Forty states have reverted to the original date. The U.S. Senate, following the lead of the states, unanimously approved the change back to Nov. 11. The House is expected to follow suit.

BERRIEN GENERAL NOTES HOSPITAL WEEK

A "Constant Concern For a Healthy Community" is the theme of National Hospital Week, May 11-17. This year, we at Berrien General Hospital join the American Hospital Association and 7,000 hospitals across the country in helping the public take a look at the hospital as a community institution. Just as important, we're asking the people of Berrien County to express their concern for the health of the community by taking an active interest in the hospital.

It's no secret that in these times of economic stress the public is aware of health care institutions in a new way. The public has begun to take another look at the hospital, and the types of care and services it offers.

Berrien General itself hasn't lagged behind in this re-evaluation process. During the past year, we've instituted new cost containment measures, and we are responding to the community's needs for quality care at reasonable cost by becoming more active in all areas of hospital care, including quality assurance and patient education.

During National Hospital Week this year, we're asking community leaders in Berrien County to express a concern for their own health and that of their families and neighbors by becoming more aware of the full range of resources we have available for their benefit. We would be pleased if you could attend a special open-house marking the opening of the hospital's new $1 million surgery and obstetrics wing.

Together with the other hospitals and health services in Berrien County, we are working to meet the needs of today while planning to fulfill those of the future. Together, we can give new meaning to the concept of community health care. Ultimately, good health is the most basic community resource.

I'm looking forward to seeing you Sunday, May 18, between 2:00 and 5:00 PM.

U.S. Misjudged Soviet Intentions

WASHINGTON — A decade ago, the National Security Council and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara developed a long-range prediction of Soviet military plans.

U.S. defense strategy these past 10 years has been predicated on these estimates. They guided the multibillion dollar buildup of missiles, planes and other weapons, determined the composition of our defense forces and the thrust of our research and development.

No new comprehensive study has been made since.

Today, it is clear these estimates made so carefully and with McNamara precision early in the 1960's were dead wrong. —The McNamara studies predicted the Soviet Union would concentrate on defense. Instead, Moscow has put its maximum effort on offensive weapons.

—Instead of the gradual buildup expected, the Soviet Union has devoted multibillions to a massive all-out effort.

—The prediction was that major Soviet missile programs would be held back by harsh technical problems. Instead, Soviet scientists have achieved MIRVing and accuracy breakthroughs with astonishing speed. There is no suggestion of a slowdown in the rate of these advances.

—The Soviets also have shown an amazing ability in the current development of new weapons involving huge sums of money and the mobilization of tens of thousands of technicians. The Russian program under which four new major missiles are being readied, would have cost us $12 billion in research and development alone. The Soviets have placed a much heavier concentration of scientists than predicted in their military programs and have put a much greater than expected sustained effort over these 10 years into the training of military scientists. Some independent scholars now suggest that perhaps 50 per cent of all qualified Soviet research men are in the USSR defense program.

—The diversity of sophisticated Soviet weapon development is greater than was foretold; in addition to the four new major missile families, there are warheads of advanced design, military lasers, preliminary mobile missile prototypes reloadable-type missile silos, way-out anti-tank and anti-aircraft weapons, radar and bridging equipment.

—The orderliness and consistency in the Soviet military research and development effort has been grossly underestimated. They have moved smoothly into new programs as old ones were completed. It is a persistent, rolling effort that has grown without letup, without the ups and downs, starts and stops associated with U.S. military developments.

—Russian military advances have been held back less than expected by economic problems.

As a result of these miscalculations, the United States has gone off on the wrong track. Our original mistakes have been compounded by our neglect in not continually bringing the original studies up to date with successive corrections based on the reams of satellite, agent and electronic intelligence we have been gathering these many years.

This is not to argue we should have spent more on defense. It is to say that we would, if we had analyzed the data thoroughly, have spent the funds we had more wisely.

Media Missed Chilean Poll

I would like here to document yet another gap, no, chasm, between the apparent truth of a situation and the impression given by our media and crystallized as received opinion.

Everyone "knows" the truth about recent Chilean history. It constitutes yet another version of the standard ideological melodrama.

In the beginning, yea, even so, the entrenched feudal interests, the vast international combines, and their lackeys and primitive militarists, held the Chilean people under the yoke of economic slavery.

And then it came to pass, yea, even so, that the white hat appeared, the idealistic Salvador Allende, a sort of Woodrow Wilson of the Andes. A happy warrior, even a bon vivant, Allende was busily leading his people toward the promised land of democratic socialism, milk and honey. But then a dark cloud crossed the sun. Allende was businiquacked by the old combine of FIT, the CIA, Nixon, and the local fascists. And lo, the Chilean people have been returned to slavery.

Now I am convinced that a good many very bad things have been happening in Chile since the overthrow of Allende. From close friends who have been in Chile during the past year, I have the clear impression that the military government has been rather worse than it needs to be. Nevertheless, a funny thing has now happened on the way to the ideological melodrama. The Gallup organization took a poll in Chile.

Oddly enough, or perhaps not so oddly, the results of this poll have not been widely reported. It is after all rather uncomfortable to have received opinion so rudely upset. Nevertheless, the Gallup organization is a reputable one, and the poll in question was conducted by its Uruguay-based branch for Latin America. I see no obvious reason to suppose that its results are less accurate than polls conducted by Gallup inside the United States.

It turns out that in Chile 64 per cent of the people believe that they are better off today than on the day before Allende was overthrown. Only 13 per cent believe that they are worse off.

Asked why they are better off, the respondents were scarcely utopian in response, and there was no totalitarian unanimity. In the style of their replies, one did not sense that they had been busily reading "The Thoughts of General Pinochet" (Gen. Augusto Pinochet, the current Chilean leader). A very large majority considered the accomplishments of the junta to include: at the top of the list, order and justice; peace and security; and depoliticization.

That last item is worth pausing over. A leftist dictatorship characteristically politicizes everything, from economics to entertainment. Under Allende, the walls of Santiago appeared to be constructed of political posters. The Chilean citizenry now seem glad to be relieved of one that.

One startling statistic leaps to the eye, in view of the fact that Allende is usually presented as the champion of the working class. If not of "bourgeois freedoms." According to the Gallup Poll, more than 80 per cent of farm workers and laborers believe that conditions are improving for them and that they will continue to improve.

Asked about the future, 73 per cent of the Chilean people overall believe that conditions are continuing to improve. Only 11 per cent say the opposite.

To be sure, any opinion about "condition" is relative, and the Chilean respondents are comparing the present with the recent Allendist past. One cannot but reflect, however, that, if the Gallup Poll broke 73-11 for Gerald Ford, there would probably be dancing and champagne under the stars in the White House Rose Garden.

Contract Could End Sewer Bottleneck

Action by the Berrien county board of public works (BPW) yesterday could pave the way to end a bottleneck between the Hickory Creek sewer interceptor and the Twin Cities sewage treatment plant. The board approved a contract between the county and St. Joseph and Lincoln townships which essentially would allow for construction of a higher-capacity line from the end of the interceptor at the St. Joseph city limits to the disposal plant, a distance of about 1½ miles.

The 54-inch diameter interceptor empties into a 24-inch line in the St. Joseph city sewer system.

Lincoln township has been denied approval by the State Water Resources commission to proceed with plans for a sewage collection system because of the bottleneck. St. Joseph township has extended the deadline for owners of existing dwellings to hook into the township sewer collection system because of the bottleneck.

The new line from the interceptor to the treatment plant will be a 20-inch force main. Robert Barnes, BPW director, said the higher-capacity force main should be able to handle the flow from the gravity-flow interceptor for many years. The new project will include a new lift station.

The Berrien county board of commissioners was expected to take action on the contract today, which would authorize the county to become part of the project and give the green light to construction.

Barnes estimated the construction costs at $608,000. He said he hoped the section would be finished sometime next year.

The Hickory Creek interceptor serves St. Joseph and Lincoln townships, as well as Shoreham and Stevensville.

The Hickory Creek interceptor went into use on May 1, 1974, and cost $2.7 million for the seven-mile-long stretch from the St. Joseph city limits along Hickory Creek to the Village of Stevensville.

The Hickory Creek interceptor was embroiled in controversy since its inception when it was learned the cost would be far greater than was anticipated, and later when a 600-foot section was damaged at Cleveland avenue.

The BPW also yesterday was notified of an opinion from the state attorney general's office regarding the return of funds obligated to the construction of the joint Benton Harbor-St. Joseph sewage treatment plant.

The opinion said the BPW could not retain $440,550 in a lump sum to the plant, as requested, but could return the sum in the form of expansion of the plant or system or payment of interest and principal associated with the bond issue for the plant.

Equipment Gift

Kidney Machine

The purchase of an additional kidney machine at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, is being made possible by a donation by St. Joseph Emblem Club No. 240.

The $500 donation was made to C.T. Loftus, hospital administrator.

During the past four months, 403 dialysis treatments were given to 13 patients at the hospital. Each patient uses one of the six machines four times a week for five to six hour periods. Patients had previously been receiving treatments at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo.

During treatments, each machine must be monitored by a technician.

The machines are used in the treatment of patients with chronic renal failure and in some cases where the kidneys need temporary help.

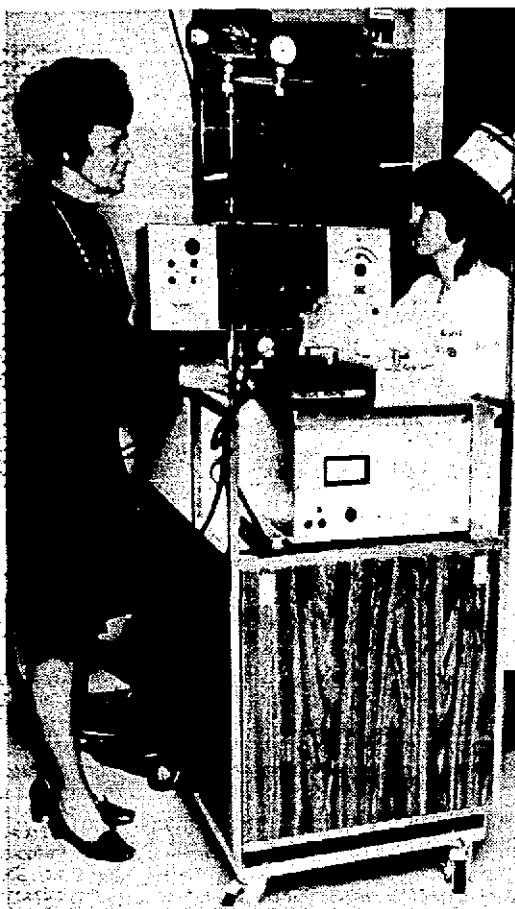

The Emblem club, a charitable organization which holds several money-making projects, has in the past donated an electric bed to Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

The club's major projects since 1959 have included work with the mentally retarded program, donation of equipment for the loan closet of the Berrien County Cancer Society, United Community Fund, March of Dimes, Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to needy families, handicapped campers and Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The Emblem club and Elks Lodge 541 also sponsor boys and girls softball leagues. The girls' group was formed last year.

Members have also volunteered more than 700 working hours to Berrien County Blood Bank program and more than 300 hours to Memorial hospital.

The club has also been active for many years in the annual Christmas carnival sponsored by the Memorial hospital auxiliary.

Serious Handicap

About 2.3 million Americans have skin diseases that could be characterized as a significant handicap in a job or social adjustment, according to a national statistical survey.

The survey showed that almost one out of four persons in this country has a skin disorder that is being treated or could be helped by treatment.

Dr. Marie-Louise T. Johnson of New York university said acne leads the list, followed by fungus infections and cancer.

AU To Observe Education Week

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Andrews' university education department will explore concepts of Christian education during Michigan Education Week activities at the university, Monday through Friday, May 19-23.

The education faculty will present a departmental dinner and assembly in the university school cafeteria Monday, May 19, at 5:30 p.m.

Topics which will be discussed include the Bible as the most important textbook on all levels of education, crisis education for the last days, educational reform, and factors in character education.

Throughout the week, students will present 10-minute talks in education classes at the invitation of the instructor. Topics will be similar to those presented Monday.

Dr. John Youngberg, assistant professor of education and coordinator for the week's activities, said the discussions are designed to clarify what should make Christian education at Andrews unique within the general educational structure of Michigan.

He said such uniqueness is vital to the survival of Andrews.

Students and teachers at AU have recently become more concerned than ever about just what Christian education should be, according to Dr. Youngberg.

Music Award For Track Star

SJHS Student

By MARYANNE BUTT
Staff Writer

A 17-year-old St. Joseph high school track star has been awarded a $500 Vail scholarship to Interlochen Arts Academy for this summer.

Ruth DeVries says her two diverse interests — track and music — do have something in common. They both help to release emotions, both are means of self-expression, and besides, she loves them both.

The first chair violinist in the high school orchestra has broken the girls' school record for the quarter-mile, 220 yard dash, and, with her teammates, the 880 medley relay, the 440 relay, the Alma relay and the 880 relay.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeVries, 3008 Kevin street, she received the scholarship directly from Interlochen. Selection was based on musical background and ability. Judging was done with tape recordings of the applicants.

DeVries also plays the recorder, the mandolin and guitar. She plays in the Twin Cities Symphony orchestra, and the Andrews university orchestra and summer orchestra.

She isn't the only musically-minded person in her family, nor is she the only sports-minded. Her sister, Linda, (Mrs. Keenies Owens) began teaching her to play the violin eight years ago. DeVries is currently studying under Dr. Charles Davis of Andrews university. Another sister, Nancy, plays the piano and Mrs. DeVries sings in the choir at First Congregational United Church of Christ, St. Joseph.

DeVries also has two brothers, Tom and Bob. Her father ran hurdles in high school and her brother Bob played football for SJHS.

Encouragement in her two talents is, therefore, plentiful at home, she says.

She became interested in track through the Berrien county Olympian and Can-Am games, which she has participated in for about five years. A junior, she has been on the high school girls' track team for two years.

The recent increased importance placed on women's athletics in public schools is "great," according to DeVries, who says it "develops girls physically, which is very much needed. She believes that schools should fund women's athletic departments on an equal basis as men's because "they're worth it." Although men's sports attractions bring more money back to a school at the present, she feels that eventually women's sports will pay off as well.

DeVries plans to attend college and major in music. She'd like to become an orchestra conductor, another previously male dominated field. Being a conductor is "more traditional for men, but women are just as capable," she says.

DeVries would like to run on a women's track team in college, she says, but if a choice ever arose between track and music, the latter would definitely come first.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Teaser Is A Sadist

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated by the letter about the "Professional Virgin." My best friend is one and I think it's funny. She's a wonderful gal in many ways, but when it comes to sex she's off her rocker. I believe the girl is a sadist. She loves to lead guys on — giving them every reason to think they'll score. When things get to the boiling point, she lowers the boom, feigns indignation and announced, "I'm not that kind of a girl!"

Although a medical examination would prove she has everything she was born with, I'd say her behavior is far from virginal. When she describes how far she goes, I find it difficult to understand what she thinks she's saving by not completing the act.

Comment, please. I'd love for her and others who behave this way to see it in print. — Out With The Teasers

Dear Out: Your friend, and other "professional virgins" who make such a big issue over a little tissue, are kidding themselves. Although they might be clinically "intact" they really haven't saved much in the way of personal integrity, reputation or anything else. I agree with you — they ARE sadistic.

'New' Wife Irked

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married to this wonderful man for four months. It is my first marriage (I'm in my late 20s) and Jack's second. He was widowed after having been married for 18 years — so you see he is several years my senior.

It seems whenever Jack in-trodes me to anyone he says, "Meet my new wife." This bothers me. I don't feel it's necessary that I be introduced as "new." I've mentioned this to Jack at least three times but he seems to forget. What can I do to get the idea across? — Antics With Semantics

Dear Ant: Forget it. It's no big deal. Jack will probably drop that irritating word within the year. In the meantime I can't see that any harm is being done.

When he begins to introduce you as his OLD wife, then you'll have something to complain about.

Kid Hater

Dear Ann Landers: I have to laugh the way people who write to you have divided themselves into two camps — cat lovers, who are invariably dog haters, and dog lovers, who can't stand cats.

Actually, I don't mind either

cats or dogs. It's children I find intolerable. Why has so little been written on this subject — considering our society has become completely child-dominated?

More and more I meet people who share my disgust at the way our nation's little monsters are let loose to ruin rugs, furniture, lawns, parks, public buildings, and even marriages.

I've been in homes where parents have allowed their children to take over the conversation, argue with adult guests, and use language which I consider insolent. And have you noticed how many children are permitted to answer the phone and ask, "Who is this?"

You might consider me an oddball, but there are more of us around than you think. I hope the parents who read your column give this matter some thought. — Upstate N.Y.

Dear Up: Well!!! I'm glad you radioed your position. Dad. I'll keep my grandchildren away from YOUR neck of the woods.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I have two young children and I am in a state of chronic fatigue. I barely get through the chores of the day.

I work hard and frankly resent the fact that my family thinks my tiredness is psychological. Couldn't there be some other reason?

Mrs. C.L., Penn.

Dear Mrs. L.:
The multiple obligations of a home and family can be overwhelmingly exhausting. The frenetic activity of running a house can deprive the conscientious housewife and mother of all her energy.

It is unfair for anyone to assume that your excessive fatigue is psychological. There are far too many other physical reasons that should be explored first.

Overactivity and underactivity of the thyroid gland, low-grade chronic infections, menstrual disorders, anemia, hormone deficiencies, low blood sugar, low blood pressure, poor nutrition and deficiency of vitamins and minerals must all be ruled out as a primary reason for your exhaustion.

It is true that psychological stress and emotional upheavals can materially add to the burden if a physical condition does exist.

One does not need to apologize for fatigue. The cause must be found and then a realignment of work and leisure-time must be established.

Our newborn child has "terricalls." We've been told that this can be fixed, but we need some added assurance.

Mr. and Mrs. A.J., Tenn.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. J.:
A large muscle runs from the mastoid bone to the collar bone. A birth injury, or some defect in development, may have shortened this muscle which is very important in turning the head.

It is now possible, by relatively simple surgery, to safely repair this contracted muscle.

Adults, too, develop torticollis (a wry, or stiff neck). Usually, this is a temporary spasm of the muscle. With drugs and heat the spasm is easily relieved.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Many cities now have a doctor emergency service. If you own doctor is not immediately available in an emergency it is a great source of comfort to know that a doctor can always be contacted.

Consumers Power Trying To Decipher FEA Order

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — The federal government has ordered Consumers Power Co. to cut off natural gas service to some of its largest customers.

The Federal Energy Administration told Consumers to cut off its interruptible customers who have "alternate fuel capability on a continuing basis."

Consumers has contracts with 22 large firms and institutions that allow service to be cut off for up to 90 days a year. All are required to have the capacity to burn other fuels.

These interruptible customers include the Upjohn Co.

of Kalamazoo, Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, three General Motors plants, the Michigan State University power plant and Wayne County General Hospital.

Consumers says it doesn't know how many of the customers it is supposed to cut off under the FEA order because it doesn't understand the order.

John B. Simpson, Consumers vice president in charge of gas operations, said the company won't cut off any customers without permission from the Michigan Public Service Commission.

He said the utility is considering appealing the order after the FEA explains it.

The FEA order was issued Friday in conjunction with the agency's authority over Consumer's gas reforming plant at Marysville, which turns petroleum byproducts from Canada into gas.

FEA has the power to allocate the byproducts and told Consumers that it is agency policy to force gas users who can convert to other fuels to do so.

The agency threatened to slash the supply of petroleum byproducts to the plant unless Consumers cuts off those customers who have alternative capabilities.

Jobless Benefits Bill's Fate In Milliken's Hands

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The fate of a bill to increase unemployment benefits to 450,000 jobless Michigan workers this year rests with Gov. William Milliken, who threatens to veto the measure.

The House sent the bill to Milliken Wednesday, quickly concurring with Senate amendments, 78-24.

On a separate voice vote, the House agreed with the Senate to give the bill immediate effect, which means the increases would start rolling to the jobless immediately if Milliken signed it. Senate minority Republicans in the past tried to keep the bill from going into effect until next year.

The measure would provide thousands of workers up to $30 additional on their weekly unemployment checks, although most would get in the range of $10-to-$25 more, legislative sources said.

The bill raises unemployment benefits from 55 to 60 per cent of the worker's average weekly wage.

Milliken and fellow Republicans contend the bill would cost business too much and discourage industrial expansion as passed by the Democratic legislature.

House Republicans say there are enough votes to uphold Milliken's threatened veto.

Democratic leaders said they will try to work out a compromise with Milliken over the next two weeks, the time he has for considering a veto. Democrats say they will ask for the bill back and draft new language if a compromise is agreed to.

"This is not a game we're playing," said House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison. "It's a question of how to get food on the table for families that need it."

"There is no question Republicans in the House would uphold a veto," said House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee. "Negotiations are going to continue."

The Democratic bill would cost business over $240 million, said the Patrick Babcock, Milliken's legislative aide. Republican Milliken proposes a bill costing just under $200 million that would grant more money to jobless workers with many dependents and less to those with few or no dependents.

Instead of the raises of up to $30, Milliken would issue raises as follows:

For no dependents, $15; for one, $20; for two, $25; for three, $35; and for four or more, $40.

According to 1974 statistics, almost 80 per cent of those receiving unemployment compensation in Michigan have two or fewer dependents, according to 1974 statistics. In 1974, for example, about 55 per cent had none, 13 per cent had one and 12 per cent had two.

An agreement was worked out earlier Wednesday to avoid a roll-call vote in the House on the question of whether the benefits should go into effect immediately. Some Republican lawmakers would have been caught in a tight political corner.

A vote in favor of immediate effect would have been a repudiation of Milliken and a vote against would have made things difficult for GOP lawmakers back in their districts, where unemployment is high.

Retires At 72

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Lorna Lockwood, the first woman to serve as a state Supreme Court chief justice, has announced her retirement.

Miss Lockwood, 72, said Wednesday her retirement would become effective in September — nearly 13 years after she first was named to the Arizona Supreme Court.

Bill Would Give Teachers 10 Legal Striking Days

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A special House panel is expected to recommend a bill today to legalize school strikes in Michigan for a maximum of 10 days.

After that, circuit courts would order the teachers back to work and could also order mediation.

An advisory committee of representatives for teachers and school boards recommended two weeks ago that teachers be allowed to strike legally for five weeks. The advisory group, which met in a Lansing motel for four days, said teachers should be able to strike for three of those weeks without economic loss.

If teachers disobeyed the return-to-work order, they could be fired.

For the first 10 "legal" days of a strike, teachers would lose pay for every day they were out

MSU Student's Body Recovered

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University Police said Wednesday they recovered the body of a 19-year-old MSU student from the Red Cedar River.

The victim was identified as John Jacoby of Edina, Minn.

Police said they commandeered a canoe and fished the floating body out of the river after it was sighted.

Officers said an autopsy was scheduled to determine the cause of death.

They said Jacoby's roommate reported he was last seen Friday.

of work. Schools themselves would have to reimburse the state for wages they did not have to pay teachers.

After 10 days, the teachers would continue to lose wages but the boards would not lose state school aid.

The recommendations were to come from a special House committee which has been studying the school strike problem for several months, said Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City. His committee will recommend adoption of the proposals to the House Labor Committee, which is the standing committee reviewing school strike legislation.

Teachers would have to give 15-day notice prior to striking and both sides would have to publicly disclose "all issues of impasse," Keith said.

State law now requires that schools provide 180 days minimum of teaching a year. A strike lasting longer than 10 days would put that minimum in danger and cause "irreparable harm" to school children, the Keith committee proposal says.

Keith said Michigan will have effective school strike legislation in time to affect next fall's classes. Dozens of school teacher strikes around the state two years ago crippled schools. Many of those two-year contracts come up for renegotiation this year.

Keith and Rep. Melvin Larsen, R-Pontiac, have introduced a bill that could accomplish the special committee recommendations, Keith said.

Bill Would Certify State's Mechanics

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation has been introduced to certify all automobile mechanics in Michigan under last year's landmark auto repair law.

The bill is sponsored by Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, who steered the original bill through heavy opposition. That measure, which went into effect last month, will license all repair shops and certify some, but not all, mechanics.

Under the law, all licensed facilities must have by 1978 at least one "master" mechanic certified in all major repair work or a specialist certified in each type of work the facility performs.

The law provides that the certified mechanics inspect and "sign off" work done by uncertified workers. But Nelson says that won't work.

"They won't sign off work for their colleagues," he said. "The only way to address the problem is to mandate licensing for each mechanic."

The original bill provided for total certification, but was amended to permit some mechanics to go uncertified. The new measure requires certification by 1981, with no "grandfathering" — meaning all current mechanics would have to become certified, as well as new ones.

Nelson acknowledged it would be difficult to win approval of the bill, as it was last year.

Meanwhile, he barely survived a Senate Appropriations Committee vote on a supplemental budget bill which provides $254,000 for staff to administer the new law.

On a tie vote of 8-8, the com-

WOMAN INJURED CRITICALLY: Three Benton Harbor residents were injured in this two-car collision Wednesday at about 5:30 p.m. on Bundy road just north of Thar road in Hager township, according to Berrien sheriff's deputies. Myrtle Hanson, of 472 North Winans street, was listed in "critical" condition at Memorial hospital with a fractured leg and other injuries. She was a passenger in a car driven by Thomas Kieser, 85, of 1094 Broadway, who was listed in "satisfactory" condition at Memorial. The driver of the other auto, Charles Yeager, 18, of South Haven, was not injured, but his passenger, Bill Anderson, of route 3, box 298, Coloma road, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Memorial. No tickets were issued. (Cliff Stevens photo)

SJ Woman Files Suit Challenging No-Fault Law

A suit challenging portions of Michigan's no-fault auto insurance law was filed yesterday in Berrien circuit court on behalf of the widow of a St. Joseph man killed in an auto crash last year.

The plaintiff, Betty J. Lewis of St. Joseph, seeks a declaratory judgment finding two parts of the no-fault law unconstitutional as applied to her. Her husband, Doyle, was killed Nov. 16 when his car was struck head-on on US-33 near Maple lane in Hager township.

Named defendant in the suit was Home Insurance Co., which allegedly issued the couple a no-fault policy.

The suit challenges provisions in the no-fault law which allow an insurance company to deduct social security payments from personal protection benefits which the company is obliged to pay, and which allow the insurance company to deduct any money the victim's family receives in death benefits from the state or federal governments from the maximum funeral allowance — $1,000 — which the insurance company is also supposed to pay.

The suit claims Mrs. Lewis will be denied $255 under the funeral benefits clause and $505 a month for three years under the section dealing with social security benefits unless the statutes are ruled unconstitutional and the insurance company forced to pay those sums.

Earlier, Mrs. Lewis filed suit against the alleged driver of the other car, Michael J. McCann, of Benton Harbor, and Vince's Club 33, in Hager township seeking $856,500 damages. The suit claims the club served liquor to McCann prior to the accident.

Witness Threat Charge Dropped

ALLEGAN — A charge of extortion against a South Haven man accused of threatening a witness in a case involving arson of a South Haven township lumber company was dismissed yesterday following a preliminary examination in 57th district court here.

Duane Thompson, 22, was charged by state police from the South Haven post with threatening a 16-year-old youth who was the key witness against Thompson in the Nov. 20 fire that destroyed the main building of the Lappo Lumber company.

The charge was dismissed by District Judge Gary Stewart for lack of evidence. Thompson was remanded to the Van Buren county jail where he is awaiting sentencing after being found guilty of the arson charge.

Charges of felonious assault against Samuel Lopez of South Haven in connection with the same incident were reduced to a misdemeanor charge of aggravated assault.

Lopez pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $54 and placed on probation for one year.

UPON THIS ROCK

"One lord, one faith, one baptism." Eph. 4:5

Those who believe the Bible recognize that there is but one Lord: Jesus Christ. But not all believe that there is only one faith or one baptism. There was Holy Spirit baptism when the church began (Acts 2:1-4), as well as water baptism, but 30 years later Paul wrote that there was only one baptism. The one baptism was in water, and so it continues even today.

"Baptism" means immersion, not pouring or sprinkling. Paul spoke of it as a burial (Rom. 6:3-4). It is the answer of a good conscience toward God, an act of faith that brings us into salvation (1 Pet. 3:21, Mark 16:16, Heb. 5:8-9). It is the new birth, of water and of the Spirit (John 3:5). When we by faith obey the command of Jesus to be baptized in water our sins are forgiven, we are saved by the blood of Jesus, and we become new creatures in Christ Jesus (2 Cor. 5:17).

Do you believe in Jesus enough to do as he commands: to repent of sin, confess Christ, and be baptized in water for the forgiveness of your sins? We hope you do and will. If you have any questions concerning this article please write to us.

Area Retailers Are Honored At 'Stroh A Party'

About 1,200 people Wednesday attended the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Stroh Brewery Co. and the silver anniversary of its Twin City area distributor, South End Beverage, Inc.

Ralph Schafer, owner-manager of the distributorship located at 1300 South Crystal avenue, Benton township, invited all of his retail customers and their friends to the party at the St. Joseph Kickers club.

In Contest

St. Joseph Elks lodge No. 541 officers will compete Friday in the state Elks convention ritualistic contest as Southwest Michigan district representatives.

The convention will be in Marquette. Competition will pit the seven district champions against each other.

Members of the ritualistic team are: Donald Krajcek, exalted ruler; Robert Dasse, leading knight; Warren Shafer, loyal knight; Al Wolting, lecturing knight; Robert Hansen, esquire; Richard Howard, chaplain; and Art Newell, inner guard.

The St. Joseph lodge is also sponsoring a ritualistic drill team in state competition at the convention for the first time in 15 years. Only seven of Michigan's 73 Elks lodges have competition drill teams.

Members of the St. Joseph squad are Herb Grise, captain; Warren Sherer, Robert Thompson, Jim Brandt, Earl Ickes and Harold Gast.

Hartford Committee Is Misidentified

HARTFORD — A story published by this newspaper Tuesday about the Hartford school board meeting of Monday night incorrectly identified a committee making a recommendation on a controversial book.

The committee making the recommendation was the book review committee. It was formed by the school administration after a citizens committee objected to use of certain books and films in the school.

The book review committee is made up of representatives from the citizens committee, the school administration and others.

The committee's recommendation to keep the book, titled "Each Other's Victims" in the library but restrict its use to certain students was rejected by the school board. The board voted to remove the book.

Action on the book was the first by the board since the citizens committee announced plans for a petition drive aimed at getting a recall election scheduled for school board members over the book and film issue.

The citizens committee has said the recall would be sought if its demands were not met on the materials.

MEMBERS FAIL TO SHOW Panel Convenes 10 Minutes

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The chairman ended the Senate Judiciary Committee's weekly meeting Wednesday after only 10 minutes — nobody else showed up.

The committee had before it nine major bills, among them measures dealing with medical malpractice insurance, X-rated movies at drive in theaters, and handling the criminally insane.

Yet only a miffed Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, and 20 members of the public appeared at the 9 a.m. meeting time. Sen. Anthony Derezinski, D-Muskegon, called and said he was in the building and available if more members showed up.

It takes three of five committee members to make a quorum. But phone calls revealed one senator's whereabouts were unknown, one was en route to Lansing, and a third's office said he would be in at 10:30 or 11 a.m.

It was not disclosed who the specific senators were, but the absent members were Donald Bishop, R-Rochester, Hal Ziegler, R-Jackson, and Patrick McCollough, D-Dearborn.

Brown dashed off a letter to his colleagues, noting they knew where they were supposed to be and when.

"Please be advised that we have at this moment, 10:26 a.m., May 14, 1975, 101 Senate bills awaiting our disposition as well as 17 House bills and two Senate Joint Resolutions," Brown wrote. "Also be advised that to this date we have been in session over four months and we have reported out four Senate bills and three House bills."

"Also be advised that two weeks ago, Wednesday, April 30, as you undoubtedly know, the committee did not function due to the absence of a quorum. It should appear equally obvious that every regular committee meeting simply means another week has gone by."

Brown set the next meeting for May 21, adding: "Your prompt attendance is respectfully requested."

Kishkorn Has New Problem

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — New charges have been placed against Stephen L. Kishkorn, a deputy commissioner from Grand Rapids, Mich.; this time alleged fraud involving $10,000, the U.S. Embassy said. Kishkorn, 35, was cleared of assault charges Tuesday on the Caribbean island of San Andres, where he has been hospitalized since his arrest April 30. He is reported suffering from nervousness, diabetes and ulcers. An embassy spokesman confirmed the San Andres charges had been dropped. "However, Kishkorn is facing new criminal and charges in the western part of Cali, placed by Bernardo Zargovira in behalf of a Colombian leather goods firm named Martimores Titan Limitada." The suit alleges that Kishkorn received $20,000 worth of leather goods for which he hasn't paid, the spokesman said. The embassy had said earlier that Kishkorn was in Colombia to import leather goods to the United States. The spokesman said a court had ordered Kishkorn's transfer to Cali and he will probably be there Thursday accompanied by a police detective and a U.S. consular official, Frank Ranz.

Kishkorn's U.S. attorney, William Reardon, has filed a countersuit against Zargovira in Grand Rapids, the embassy spokesman said.

Brennan Hits Judicial 'God Complex' In Court

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court is guilty of stealing power from the legislature, in the opinion of former Chief Justice Thomas Brennan.

"Some judges having a god complex is an old problem. Judges should do a judicial job and stay out of other business. The oldest remedy for this in the world has always been judicial restraint," Brennan said.

"I'm not taking a personal swipe or crack at the court. I have a personal fondness for it and its members," he added.

Decisions of the court are made behind closed doors while legislative decisions are made in the healthy glare of day-to-day publicity and public scrutiny, Brennan said in an interview Wednesday.

"The court lends itself to government by the intellectual, government by the elite. They've stretched their power dramatically and have become a repository for all kinds of political decisions," said Brennan.

"They have for a long time usurped legislative authority. There are many, many instances," he said.

Brennan, 46, left the court last year under pressure from Gov. William Milliken, who considered Brennan's dual posts as a justice and dean of Lansing's Thomas M. Cooley Law School a possible conflict of interest.

Brennan's dissenting opinions while a justice featured jabs at his colleagues for overstepping their judicial bounds. Brennan was elected to the high court in 1966 and served as chief justice in 1969-70.

Michigan's seven-member court has used its rule-making power to gain almost autocratic control in many areas, he said.

The court, for example, cast aside a bill passed by the legislature and signed by the governor to bar the use of police accident reports as evidence.

In another instance, the State Supreme Court ignored an enactment on grounds the reason for the law no longer existed. "To declare a law simply inoperative because the reason for it no longer exists, to me is ridiculous," Brennan said.

An obvious danger of courts ruling on an ever-widening circle of subjects is that the rulings come behind closed doors and out of public view, Brennan said. By contrast, elected legislators work in a "glass house," he said.

Gasoline Prices Up On Freeways

DEARBORN, MICH. (AP) — Gas prices along the state's main highways rose for the third straight week according to a survey by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The week's half-cent increase brings the average price of major-brand regular gas to 57.2 cents per gallon. Non-lead fuel is 2 cents to an average 58.6 cents per gallon.

Area Retailers Are Honored At 'Stroh A Party'

About 1,200 people Wednesday attended the 200th anniversary of the founding of the Stroh Brewery Co. and the silver anniversary of its Twin City area distributor, South End Beverage, Inc.

Ralph Schafer, owner-manager of the distributorship located at 1200 South Crystal avenue, Benton township, invited all of his retail customers and their friends to the party at the St. Joseph Kickers club, Arden.

Three top executives of the Detroit based Stroh Brewery Co., Gari Stroh, Emil Bierkle and Leo Brown, were on hand to boost the company's promotion slogan: "Stroh a party."

The Stroh Brewery Co. was founded in 1775 in Germany. It came to Detroit in 1850.

The throng consumed six roast pigs prepared by Chef Andy Burkhard of Flagship restaurant, German potato salad, sauerkraut, sausage—and beer.

Schafer presented certificates of appreciation to 42 retailers he has served for the past 25 years. These include:

Joe, Mike and Hank Angelo, John Barrett, Bob Berndt, Kate Bresch, Joe Butera, Jerry Bywater, Babe Couvelis, Louise Fields, Jim Ford, Joe Gagliardo, Pete Hansen, Tony Mammia, Grace O'Rourke, Pauline Schenckner, Lew and Virginia Simmons, Mrs. Frank Slosson, Anne Veith and George Wolf, Benton Harbor.

Bill Bartloff, Ed and Al Damaske, Maxine Domke, Bob Farnan, Harry Froehlich, Sam Gardino, Sparky and Keg Gerssonde, Alma Ignatovich, Bill Wohler and Neil Wright, St. Joseph.

Others awarded certificates were: Roy Hiler, Al Lockman and Ed and Janet Vollrath, Coloma; Jack and Ben Forestieri, Joe Sax and Leon Pitcher and Erv Zick, Millburg; Al and Jane Gear, Sister Lakes; Mickey Hingst, Watervliet; Dale Mills, Eau Claire; Al and Emil Mulac, Bangor; Sheldon Radom, Rainbridge; Elmo Seel, Keeler; Bill Wallace, Hartford.

St. Joseph Elks lodge No. 541 officers will compete Friday in the state Elks convention ritualistic contest as Southwest Michigan district representatives.

The convention will be in Marquette. Competition will pit the seven district champions against each other.

Members of the ritualistic team are: Donald Krawcheck, exalted ruler; Robert Dasse, leading knight; Warren Schafer, loyal knight; Al Volting, lecturing knight; Robert Hansen, esquire; Richard Howard, chaplain; and Art Newell, inner guard.

The St. Joseph lodge is also sponsoring a ritualistic drill team in state competition at the convention for the first time in 15 years. Only seven of Michigan's 73 Elks lodges have competition drill teams.

Members of the St. Joseph squad are Herb Griese, captain, Warren Sherer, Robert Thompson, Jim Brandt, Earl Ickes and Harold Gast.

Kishkorn Has New Problem

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — New charges have been placed against Stephen L. Kishkorn, a county commissioner from Grand Rapids, Mich.; this time an alleged fraud involving $30,000, the U.S. Embassy said.

Kishkorn, 33, was cleared of assault charges Tuesday on the Caribbean island of San Andres, where he has been hospitalized since his arrest April 30. He is reported suffering from nervousness, diabetes and ulcers.

An embassy spokesman confirmed the San Andres charges had been dropped. "However, Kishkorn is facing new criminal fraud charges in the western city of Cali, placed by Bernardo Zaragovia in behalf of a Colombian leather goods firm named 'Curtiembre Titan Limitada.'"

The suit alleges that Kishkorn received $20,000 worth of leather goods for which he hasn't paid, the spokesman said. The embassy had said earlier that Kishkorn was in Colombia to export leather goods to the United States.

The spokesman said a court has ordered Kishkorn's transfer to Cali and he will probably be flown there Thursday accompanied by a police detective and a U.S. consular official, Frank Arenz.

Kishkorn's U.S. attorney, William Reamon, has filed a countersuit against Zaragovia in Grand Rapids, the embassy spokesman said.

Brennan Hits Judicial 'God Complex' In Court

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme court is guilty of stealing power from the legislature, in the opinion of former Chief Justice Thomas M. Brennan.

"Some judges having a god complex is an old problem. Judges should do a judicial job and stay out of other business. The oldest remedy for this in the world has always been judicial restraint," Brennan said.

"I'm not taking a personal swipe or crack at the court. I have a personal fondness for it and its members," he added.

Gasoline Prices Up On Freeways

DEARBORN, MICH. (AP) — Gas prices along the state's main highways rose for the third straight week according to a survey by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The week's half-cent increase brings the average price of major-brand regular gas to 57.2 cents per gallon. Non-lead fuel rose 2 cents to an average 58.6 cents per gallon.

Decisions of the court are made behind closed doors while legislative decisions are made in the healthy glare of day-to-day publicity and public scrutiny, Brennan said in an interview Wednesday.

"The court lends itself to government by the intellectual, government by the elite. They've stretched their power dramatically and have become a repository for all kinds of political decisions," said Brennan.

"They have for a long time usurped legislative authority. There are many, many instances," he said.

Brennan, 51, left the court last year under pressure from Gov. William Milliken, who considered Brennan's dual posts as a justice and dean of Lansing's Thomas M. Cooley Law School a possible conflict of interest.

Brennan's dissenting opinions while a justice featured jabs at his colleagues for overstepping their judicial bounds. Brennan was elected to the high court in 1966 and served as chief justice in 1969-70.

Michigan's seven-member court has used its rule-making power to gain almost autocratic control in many areas, he said.

The court, for example, cast aside a bill passed by the legislature and signed by the governor to bar the use of police accident reports as evidence.

In another instance, the State Supreme Court ignored a legislative enactment on grounds the reason for the law no longer existed. "To declare a law simply inoperative because the reason for it no longer exists, to me is ridiculous," Brennan said.

An obvious danger of courts ruling on an ever-widening circle of subjects is that the rulings come behind closed doors and out of public view, Brennan said. By contrast, elected legislators work in a "glass house," he said.

Police Officer Too Young To Buy HER Own Shells

WINDERMERE, Fla. (AP) — Police reservist Pam Mullins has to send her mother to buy cartridges for the .38 caliber revolver she carries on patrol.

"Federal law prohibits anyone under the age of 21 from buying ammunition for a revolver," Miss Mullins, 19, said Tuesday. "So I get my mother to go to the store for me."

Police officers in this small community some 12 miles west of Orlando have to provide their own guns and ammunition.

"We only have one gun," Police Chief Ralph Witte said.

"That was left behind by a policeman who was here some years ago."

Miss Mullins said she borrowed a gun from a friend "but I've never had to use it. It is a very peaceful community and the only problems you have are with spiders."

She said her mother, Faye, was "a little alarmed when first asked to buy the bullets because she doesn't know anything about guns."

Miss Mullins took a 16-week police training course at Seminole Junior College and is now studying criminal justice.

She also works as a dispatcher for the Orange County Sheriff's Department.

Miss Mullins is the only woman on the Windermere force which consists of the police chief, three patrolmen and four re-erists.

Miss Mullins estimated that she fired 500 rounds of ammunition on the firing range while taking her Police Board of Standards training.

"I did well enough to qualify," she said. "I enjoy police work. I ride on patrol at night and if they have any women prisoners they'll call me out."

Witte said he can't remember when Windermere, population 983, last had a violent crime. He appointed Miss Mullins three weeks ago.

"She's been a real help to us," he said. "Everybody seems to like her, she's likeable and she's qualified."

Spending Lid Appears Doomed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has just approved spending plans that forecast a $68.8 billion deficit, must try to do better to hold down spending but probably will not, the chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said.

"I'm afraid the tendency is toward higher spending," Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., said in an interview. He spoke after both chambers voted Wednesday a bill of $367 billion in the year beginning July 1 and a deficit of $68.8 billion above the maximum figure President Ford has set.

APPOINTMENTS

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Kathleen A. Maisner of Saginaw has been appointed to the Youth Advisory Commission, Gov. William Milliken announced Wednesday. Michael G. Harrison of East Lansing was reappointed to the commission. Milliken said.

Now They Tell Him!

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bill McDonnell, a gardener for eight years at Golden Gate Park, went to the doctor for a checkup and discovered he was fine, except for one thing: He's allergic to grass.

New York Officials Call Ford Rejection 'Heartless'

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Hugh L. Carey and Mayor Abraham D. Beame say President Ford's rejection of their plea for financial help for New York City was heartless and arrogant, and they blame him in part for the city's financial crisis.

Ford refused their request for a $6-day federally guaranteed loan in a letter Wednesday, saying, "We must stop promising more and more services without knowing how we will cover their cost."

The two Democratic officeholders went to the White House Tuesday in hopes of a federal solution to the city's increasingly pressing problem of how to meet $1.5 billion in obligations through June 30.

At a hastily convened news conference after a dinner of the Brooklyn Democratic organization, Carey said he was calling a meeting in Albany today "so we can calmly view the prospects ahead for the city."

Speaking at the same conference at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, a grave and angered Beame declared:

"The Ford recession and the Ford inflation is crippling our city and our nation. The Ford answer tonight to New York problems — created not by the sins of its people, but by national policy — is to advise us to cripple our vital services. I want to emphasize the city did not ask for cash from the government. Instead of help, we got a lecture, a lecture which sounded more political than practical."

Asked whether the denial was politically motivated, Carey said he would not speak for the President. But pressed, the governor said some observations made at Tuesday's meeting were political and heartless. He added:

"Some of the ideas they had, what the city might do, would have turned the city into literally a place of bloodshed."

Carey said there had been suggestions to increase the transit fare, close neighborhood health-care centers and shut facilities for the elderly. To such measures, he said, "the people react."

And at the dinner attended by 2,500 persons, he had demanded:

"Have they no heart? Have they no understanding of our problem? Must the city riot? Must the city burn?"

Vowing to change either the President's mind or name, the governor continued: "I find this to be a level of arrogance and disregard for the people of New York that rivals the worst things of Richard Nixon and his band of cutthroats."

In his letter to Beame, Ford said the federal guarantee "would provide no real solution but would merely postpone coming to grips with the problem."

Part of the money the city wants is to repay the state $400 million for emergency payments advanced in April. The balance is needed for other debts and payrolls.

BUILDING OWN HOMES

Young Couples Find A Way

EDEN, Wis. (AP) — A dozen young families in the Fond du Lac area near here gather each evening and weekend to panel walls, pound nails and raise high roofbeams. They're building their own homes in a time when economic conditions make any such venture perilous.

They start off with an assist from a nonprofit housing group and a federal grant. Then they learn the finer points of housebuilding as they go, moving from house to house.

They concentrate on one stage of construction until that particular phase is completed at each home. Several of the homes have been completed and the families have moved in.

The program, an experiment also being undertaken in several other states, is funded by Farmers Home Administration grants and administered by local housing counseling agencies.

Federal officials say the program will allow several hundred families across the U.S. to finance their homes without the usual hefty down payment. The families pay between 1 per cent and 4 per cent interest on their loans from the "seed money" provided by the government.

Families must put in 30-35 hours a week, but most say they work more than that.

Debbie Tautges, who is in the program with her fiancé, Dan Neubauer, said they put in 99 hours in two weeks. When they get married in August, their new home will be waiting for them.

Land Swindlers 'Take' Thousands

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A 67-year-old widow says she will spend today just like she spent the day before, looking for odd jobs to replenish a savings account wiped out by what state officials say may be "one of the biggest frauds in history."

While Elizabeth Butler of Hialeah, Fla., is job-hunting, a task force of federal, state and local authorities will meet here to coordinate strategy against the scheme which allegedly has robbed thousands of investors of millions of dollars.

Officials said the scheme involved the sale of high interest corporate notes secured by fake first mortgages on lots in Florida land developments.

"I saw this ad in the paper that said you could get 14 per cent on your money," Mrs. Butler recalled. "I called them up and this man came out and told me I could make $3,900 on my $2,500 investment."

"He said I couldn't lose because I would get a deed to property in a development they owned. He sounded so convincing."

Mrs. Butler said she received two interest checks. But "then the money just stopped coming."

"Then I tried to take over the property and found out the deed was worthless because somebody else really had the legal mortgage," she said. "The state said they are trying to put these people in jail."

"I said, 'Yeah, great, but my money is gone.'"

State Comptroller Gerald Lewis, who is responsible for enforcing Florida's security laws, said Mrs. Butler is one of between 30,000 and 80,000 people who have lost anywhere from $350 million to $1 billion in at least 56 such schemes that have

Villagers Are The Losers On Both Sides Of Maalot

Nightmares Haunt Israeli Children

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

MAALOT, Israel (AP) — The school is ringed by barbed wire, guarded by a teacher with a gun. Some of the pupils hobble to class on crutches. One is in a mental hospital.

These are the survivors of Maalot, where three Arab Guerrillas captured the village school and 100 youngsters on May 15 a year ago.

Israeli troops wiped out the raiders but 22 teen-aged hostages were killed by terrorist gunfire and stray bullets. Not a single survivor escaped uninjured.

Phiria Asulin's thigh was shattered and she spent four months in a hospital.

"I used to wake up screaming, asking why nobody was guarding the hospital," she says now.

"They had to bring the guard to my bedside to convince me I was protected," says the 17-year-old girl.

Maalot is one of the five villages and towns hit by Arab terrorists last year in the hills of the Galilee district, 100 miles from Jerusalem.

Before Maalot, on April 11, it was Qiryat Shmonah, where the Israelis said Palestinians killed

Summer Classes At Coloma

COLOMA — Plans are under way for conducting summer school in elementary, junior high, senior high and adult education, Victor Wier, high school principal, has announced.

Wier said summer school would be held from June 16 through Aug. 1, where a sufficient number of pupils sign up for any one subject. Combination classes may be held, if needed.

Tuition will be $25 for one class, and $45 for two.

Enrollment forms are available at the Coloma high school office, Wier said and must be returned by Monday, June 2, for enrollment.

Burnett Is Week's No. 1 Show

NEW YORK (AP) — A rerun of a "Carol Burnett Show" on CBS was last week's highest-rated evening TV program, and a rerun of ABC's "Kung Fu" series the lowest-rated, according to A.C. Nielsen audience estimates.

The ratings, made public Tuesday, also showed that viewers aren't turned off by the glut of award shows on TV this year.

The "America Junior Miss Pageant" on CBS was ranked 17th in audience popularity by the Nielsen findings for May 5 through May 11.

According to the ratings, the week's 20 most-popular shows were: "Carol Burnett," "Mannix," "The Jeffersons," "All in the Family" and "Mary Tyler Moore" (all CBS); NBC's "Sanford and Son" and CBS' "Tajak" (a rating tie); "CBS and the Man" (NBC); "Bob Newhart" (CBS); "Flip Wilson Special" (NBC); "Good Times" (CBS); "Columbo," "Police Woman" and "Rockford Files" (all NBC); ABC's "S.W.A.T." and NBC's "Monday Movie" (a ratings tie); "America Junior Miss Pageant" (CBS); "The Redd Foxx" (ABC); "M.A.S.H." (CBS) and "Police Story" (NBC).

residents set fire to the bodies of the three slain terrorists after the attack.

"I once was the happiest woman in the world, and all that ended in 15 minutes," said Mrs. Rita Alimi who saw her husband killed by a grenade.

Fifty-four Israelis and 13 Arab guerrillas were killed in the raids on the five communities.

"The attack at Maalot aged the children — they lost the most wonderful period of their lives, their teens," says Yusef Genness, the Maalot survivors' headmaster. The survivors go to school in the nearby town of Safad and were caught in Maalot on an overnight cross-country hike.

Arabs Suffering A 'Slow Death'

By EDWARD CODY
Associated Press Writer

RASHIYA AL-FOUKHAR, Lebanon (AP) — Villagers here tell how Atalla Issa walked into his field after a stray cow recently and was blown up by a mine they said was planted by the Israelis following a Palestinian guerrilla raid on Maalot a year ago.

The 50-year-old peasant died in a split second, leaving his widow with only a few limbs to bury, they said.

Rashiya al-Foukhar and other villagers in the region are perishing more slowly — but just as surely — under relentless Israeli retaliation against Palestinian guerrillas in these southern Lebanese hills.

Air raids that exploded over the rocky mountainsides a year ago on May 16, in retaliation for Maalot in Israel the day before helped start a deadly string of eye-for-eye terror between Palestinian guerrillas and Israelis.

Caught in the fire were the sturdy villagers of these rock-torn mountains overlooking northern Israel's Houlia Plain. In nine months of Israeli raids that Tel Aviv said were aimed at the guerrillas, more than 30 villages came under attack.

"It's a slow death," said George Awad, a 45-year-old merchant and the mayor of disorder here and they put you in prison."

The Israelis came in helicopters to Kfar Shouba, a village of about 7,000 residents a few minutes up the mountain from Rashiya al-Foukhar. They gave the hill folk 24 hours to clear out.

After a rain of artillery, the troops helicoptered in with explosives. For two days they blasted. Four villagers were injured and four Palestinian guerrillas were killed.

When the Israelis left and the villagers returned, they found only rubble where their homes had been. No one stayed.

Some five months later, Kfar Shouba is populated only by a contingent of Palestinian guerrillas who sleep in shifts with their submachine guns by their side.

A Lebanese peasant youth who passed by recently to check on his fields stepped on an Israeli mine and had one leg blown off.

"We are here just to show the Israelis they can't drive us all out," said a Palestinian guerrilla leader, camping in the remains of blown-out home, just to establish our presence.

"We will win in the end," he proclaimed in a raw Palestinian accent. "Just like the Vietnamese boat the American imperialists will win and get back our country."

As he served mint tea heated on a heronese stove, mountain wind gusted through the desolate shells of what had been Kfar Shouba.

"Let us make Kfar Shouba a symbol of the rise of south Lebanon," someone had scrawled on what was left on a grocery store wall.

The Lebanese government has announced plans to rebuild the village. But nothing has been done so far.

Israel has maintained a four-month pause in its retaliation raids. But villagers express fear of another raid in the area.

Even in the regional capital of Sidon, about 25 miles south of Beirut, many residents still cringe when Israeli jets overhead crash through the sound barrier. They say the planes pass over almost every day.

An Israeli bombing raid a year ago on May 16 on the Mediterranean port's Eini elhelwah Palestinian refugee camp left 40 Palestinians and eight Lebanese dead.

'Emmies' Get Glamor Treatment

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The electronic lovely, Emmy, reaches her 27th year on Monday, and she'll have 10 other glamor ladies to help her celebrate.

The awards of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences may seem as interminable as ever — 83 Emmies to be handed out in two hours plus — but at least the proceedings will look prettier.

"Instead of having a male comedian do a monologue and then toss off a few jokes with every award," says the show's producer, Paul Keyes, "we'll have ten ladies handling the ceremonies."

"Each runs the show for ten minutes. Each has opening remarks, then goes right to the awards. Everything neat; none of that dialogue about "they didn't turn the cards right."

"I think it will be a treat for the audience — as well as the ladies. Joan Stangor loves to dress up but she never gets a chance as Edna Barker."

"Same with Beatrice Arthur and Maudie. And you never see Mary Tyler Moore except in her working clothes. Viewers should enjoy seeing how the stars look when they dress and do their hair in normal life."

Among the other hostesses: Lucille Ball, Carol Burnett, Cher, Teresa Graves, Michael Learned, Susan Saint James, Karen Valentine.

Paul Keyes is a TV veteran who has written and produced for Jack Paar, Dean Martin and "Laugh In." He is a jolly, chunky fellow who is trying to lose some of his girth on a crash diet.

The reason: he may be on camera himself to collect an Emmy for his production of the American Film Institute tribute to Orson Welles.

The Emmies have always been the most award-laden of the awards telecasts; the Oscars have exactly one-third the number of categories.

The TV Academy's effort to speed up the ceremonies have repeatedly been thwarted by professional egos. Again this year the Directors and Writers Guilds threatened to boycott the awards if the Academy carried out its plan to eliminate acception speeches by directors and writers. Eventually the Academy backed down on the proposal.

"There will be no acceptance speeches for the craft awards costumes, art direction, etc.," Keyes explained. "And I have insisted that there will be no surrogate acceptances on the show. If the winner isn't present to accept the award, we'll go right on to the next one."

But the Emmies never have a high percentage of no-shows. The reason is because we all live and work here. I would estimate that out of 250 nominees this year, between 95 and 98 per cent will be at the Palladium Monday night."

Keyes plans to use no film clips — "You don't need them with television shows because the audience is familiar with them; on the other hand they make sense for the Oscars, since only 30 per cent of the audience would have seen 'The Sting.'"

Nor will the Emmy show have production numbers.

However, there will be a musical number with Jack Albertson and Freddie Prince, the lads from "Chico and the Man."

Keyes was asked to analyze the four major awards show, and here is his comment:

"I think the Emmies give the audience more of that which is familiar to them; television is their main love, and they consider television stars as friends.

"The Oscars feature people who are unreachable. The show offers more elegance; it's hard for the guy at home with a T-shirt and a can of beer to identify with movie people. The Grammys provide a heightened interest because often the audience has never seen the winners. The Tonies are far and away the most entertaining — except this year."

Consumer Bill

Amendment OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is trying to finish work on the bill to create an independent federal consumer's advocate after rejecting several attempts to make major changes in the new agency's scope and authority.

It did approve an amendment Wednesday directing the agency to stay out of the struggle over gun control by exempting from its manufacture, sale and possession of firearms and ammunition.

Congress Pleased With Ford's Action

major seaport on the Gulf of Thailand.

"It was the only way it could be handled," said Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., a member of the House International Relations Committee and a prime mover behind the War Powers Act.

However, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., repeated earlier reservations about the use of force. "I thought it was precipitous in view of efforts to try some diplomatic relief," McGovern said. "It did seem the military action came so quickly after we asked the Chinese to help diplomatically. Fortunately, it seems to have worked."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who initially had urged Ford to be cautious in any use of military force, said, "I have no doubt whatever the lives of the (crew) men were more likely to be secured this way."

"My feelings are one of elation and gratification that we surmounted this danger," Javits added. "I think the War Powers resolution worked extraordinarily well in this action."

Rep. John J. McFall, D-Calif., the majority whip, commented, "I'm glad we have the men and the ship back. I'm glad it was done right."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., who helped draft a resolution unanimously approved Wednesday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to support Ford's efforts, said that "the President had to make a very difficult decision but I think it was a right one. He gave advance notice to the Cambodians they must release our men, and when they failed to respond he had no other choice."

"We simply cannot permit flagrant violation of international law," Humphrey said.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, expressed relief at the release of the men and said he supported the use of military force to obtain their freedom.

"The private relations of citizens; even adulterous relations, are in the realm of private morality and should not be in the purview of the law," the commission said.

While adultery is currently a felony offense, the only complaint may be the spouse of one of the alleged adulterers. While prosecutions are rare, there is some concern that threats of prosecution might enter into divorce considerations," the commission said.

Michigan's new "no fault" divorce law eliminates the need to prove fault, such as adultery, in winning a divorce, the commission noted.

The commission is composed of judges and lawyers, police officials and prosecutors, business and labor representatives, social workers and private citizens.

Benton Harbor firemen reported they extinguished a potentially dangerous fire Wednesday at the Cigo service station, 102 East Empire avenue.

Firefighters reported nozzles from two leaking gasoline hoses were removed and the ends were on fire when they arrived about 5:30 p.m. Fire Capt. John Billups said an investigation would be conducted today to determine how the fire started. He said the service station is vacant and the pumps were locked.

Surviving are two sons, Richard and Brian, both of San Diego, Calif., and his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth "Betty" Kean, Watervliet; a daughter, Mrs. Belinda Greer, Largo, Fla.; two brothers, Richard and Dennis, both of Watervliet and two sisters, Mrs. Robert (Kathleen) Bailey, Watervliet and Mrs. Kenneth (Delores) Mobley, Sister Lakes.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete today at Hutchins funeral home, Watervliet.

Breece was driving one of the cars, Mrs. Kubert the other. The crash occurred on M-42.

He had pleaded guilty to the charge on Feb. 7.

The sentence was handed down by Cass circuit court Judge James E. Hoff.

Motorcycles Damaged In Garage Fire

Three motorcycles were damaged Wednesday in a garage fire that started from sparks from a welding torch, Benton township firemen reported.

The fire started about 8:30 p.m. while John R. Johnson, 1648 Grove avenue, was welding a go-cart. Firefighters reported sparks from the welding torch ignited the gasoline tank on a nearby motorcycle. No one was hurt. Two other cycles in the garage were also damaged. Firefighters estimated damage to the contents to be about $400 with damage to the garage about $100.

Russians Push Space Program

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Soviet Union is building a huge space launching complex in a remote desert of central Asia, the first Americans to visit the facility say. Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton said at a news conference Wednesday that the Soviets are building a city of 50,000 called Leningrad and constructing a launch complex "three to four times as big as the Cape." They referred to the American spaceport at Cape Canaveral, Fla. "It is definitely a forward-going program," Stafford said of the Soviet space effort. "They are not slowing one bit." The astronaut said the Soviets indicated they planned several manned flights a year in the future, in contrast to American plans which do not include a manned flight after this year until late 1979.

Refugee Aid Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate delays are dimming prospects for final congressional approval this week of funds for Indochinese refugees although the House gave overwhelming approval for spending $485 million to send the refugees through camps and into new lives. Senate leaders hoped to put the refugee aid to a vote today or Friday but any divergence from the House bill would result in a conference between the House and Senate and thus require new votes. Senate approval, briefly planned in tandem with the House passage Wednesday, was delayed by prolonged debate on establishing an Agency for Consumer Advocacy.

Two Yanks Die In Ship Rescue

Marines had been held under enemy fire.

A Pentagon spokesman said the carrier Coral Sea and the six other warships were either close to Koh Tang, the island about 30 miles from the Cambodian mainland, or en route.

Other Pentagon sources said the carrier Hancock also was steaming toward the area with helicopters on board.

Between 150 and 200 Marines were still on a beachhead on Koh Tang awaiting evacuation by boats and helicopters from American ships standing offshore, said spokesman Joseph Laitin.

He declined to use the words pinned down in describing the "heavy and intermittent" small arms fire raining in on the Marine landing force which assaulted the island more than 14 hours earlier.

It was not known whether the Marines were returning the fire.

U.S. fighter planes and Navy destroyers laid down suppressing fire which U.S. military commanders hoped would enable the evacuation to proceed as darkness fell over Koh Tang, an island about 30 miles from the Cambodian mainland.

At a Pentagon news briefing, Laitin issued a preliminary casualty report that only one Marine was known to have died.

However, other Pentagon sources said earlier that there were at least two dead and at least eight wounded.

In that initial assault, he said, three helicopters were shot down and two others were disabled. One of the two disabled craft returned to a U.S. air base in Thailand and the second landed on an island and was recovered, Laitin said.

The combat assault on Koh Tang was made on the apparent assumption that all or part of the crew were there.

But Laitin said today that, while the fishing boat on which the crew members had arrived appeared to have come from the direction of the Cambodian mainland, it was not clear where they had been held.

Laitin said that before the operation there was "evidence" that the crew members had spent at least one night on the island.

The 40 crew members of the Mayaguez reached the U.S. destroyer Wilson about 10:45 p.m. EDT.

At a predawn news conference, Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger called the operation "eminently successful."

The Pentagon chief spoke about 3 1/2 hours after President Ford gave a one-minute nationally televised and broadcast speech saying the operation had been a success.

Schlesinger said some U.S. Marines had been killed during the attack on Koh Tang island where the ship had been anchored.

Salaried South Haven Employees Ask More

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Salaried employees of the city of South Haven have petitioned the city council and city manager Albert Pierce for wages higher than proposed in the preliminary 1975-76 fiscal year budget.

The petition, reported to have been signed by 18 employees who are not members of the Independent Municipal Employees union which represents hourly employees, was mailed to members of city council two weeks ago after Pierce refused to accept the document.

Mayor Elizabeth Davis acknowledged that the petition had been sent to council members. City officials, however, have refused to make available a copy of the petition to the press.

City council was expected to discuss budgetary matters at an executive session this past Monday night, but the city manager, clerk Rita Verdonk and the news media were ordered to leave the meeting when aldermen said they had personal matters involving the council itself to discuss. Council said it would meet Monday afternoon to review the budget. The budget must be introduced at regular meeting of the council Monday night.

The petition from salaried employees emerged after Pierce proposed increasing wages one step in a classification scale prepared for the city by the Michigan Municipal averaged 2.4 eagle. The increase to five percent.

The petition reportedly asked for a cost-of-living raise of at least five per cent for the city's salaried employees.

Salaried employees received, increases last summer after city council agreed to abide by the classification study of the Municipal League.

At dispute is the interpretation of the size of salary increases employees received. A study done by Pierce shows rates of increase ranging from six to 41 per cent or an average of 22.2 per cent for 26 workers employees classified as administrative (salaried) employees.

The petitioners insist the effective wage hike was an average 13 per cent because a previously separate provision for cost-of-living factors was incorporated into the base salary. However, employees have refused to make available to the press their tabulations justifying the claim.

Current salaries of department heads including base pay, and longevity bonus are: city clerk Rita Verdonk, $14,924; city treasurer Sharon Onofrio, $9,965; police chief Otto Buelow, $16,481; fire chief Leslie Olmstead, $16,661; street department head Ira Morehead, $15,681; assistant engineer Ben Johnson, $12,554; building inspector Donald Zordel, $11,904; cemetery superintendent Steven Hinz, $13,391; board of public utilities accountant Wilbur Lyman, $15,238; sewage disposal plant superintendent Basil Switzer, $14,153; board of public utilities superintendent Cyrus Grimes, $17,749; board of public utilities electric foreman Donald Wenban, $15,682. The salaries of the city manager and city assessor are established by city council.

"I have never worked in a city where the employees have been so conscious of what their pay is and what their fellow worker is earning," said Pierce in an interview yesterday.

The manager noted that according to city charter he has the responsibility for setting wages of salaried employees and that the only basic council involvement is in approving the general budget of the city.

Bridgman Annexation Petition Ruled Legal

LANSING — The state boundary commission ruled yesterday that petitions of the City of Bridgman to annex part of Lake township, including most of the $600 million Cook nuclear plant, were legal, clearing the way for consideration of the controversial request.

The commission decision, made over objections filed by the township, clears the way for a public hearing now scheduled for Aug. 26, according to John Spelman, attorney for the township.

Yesterday's commission decision, Spelman said, does not give approval to the annexation, but means only that the initial annexation petitions of the city are not in legal error.

The city, in February, announced its intentions to annex land bounded by Lake Michigan on the west, the center line of I-94 on the east, the northern city limits on the south, and to the north, a section line through the Cook plant.

City officials said they the city now requires some $6.5 million in improvements and the tax base provided by Indiana & Michigan Electric company's Cook plant would provide the tax base.

Spelman said the township's written objections submitted to the commission included these points: the city's annexation isolates a northern portion of the township, south of Willow road; it divides the I&M property; and was designed so that fewer than 100 residents were included, thus eliminating the necessity of a referendum on the issue.

The township is also contending that the city cannot provide adequate city services for the area the city proposes to annex, Spelman said.

He added that the township is also contending that the boundary commission lacks statutory jurisdiction to decide on the annexation issue.

The St. Joseph attorney said that a final boundary commission decision on the annexation can be expected several weeks after the August public hearing.

He said that unless other cases — not a part of the Bridgman issue now pending in the court of appeals — take the authority away from the boundary commission, a final decision following the August public hearing could come in one of three forms.

He said the commission could approve the annexation bid, or it could deny it, or change the boundaries of the proposed annexation.

Spelman said that if the commission is going to approve the annexation issue anyway, the township would like to see the boundaries changed to take in more than 100 persons, thus forcing a referendum on the issue.

Spelman and Lake township Supervisor Wade Shuler attended the 30-minute boundary commission meeting in Lansing yesterday.

Returned To Prison

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Convicted murderer Kenneth E. Oliver has returned to custody at Southern Michigan Prison.

Federal officials delivered Oliver to prison authorities Wednesday, completing a series of moves starting in Los Angeles where Oliver was nabbed by FBI agents.

He escaped from behind the walls of the prison March 21.

Warden Charles B. Egeier said he would recommend Oliver be prosecuted for the escape, in which two civilians and an inmate are being prosecuted in Jackson County Circuit Court.

Oliver was convicted for the murder of a state trooper following a bank robbery several years ago.

RECALL PETITIONS PRESENTED: Petitions calling for recall election for South Haven Township Supervisor Clifford Klapp and Trustee Donald Getman were presented to township board last night. serve the people of the township by ignoring results of the information referendum against a proposed township zoning ordinance and promoting and voting for an identical interim zoning ordinance to be enacted without a vote of the people.

The petitions were circulated by nine township residents. The documents were presented to the township board by spokesman Willie Bradford. Other circulators included Robert Walker, Elmer Levertson, Charles Young, Sr., Herman Shelton, Edna Nielsen, Vivian Bierhalter, Howard Hubley and Henry Spears.

Klapp is serving his first term as supervisor while Getman is in his third term as a trustee.

Clerk Franklin Torp said 249 signatures were required to place the recall issue on a ballot. He said the petitions would be checked and an election set within 30 days, if the petitions were validated.

In other matters, the board approved renewing a contract with the city of South Haven for fire protection services for a two-year period at a cost amounting to revenue from a three-mill levy on assessed valuation. Township officials noted that they need to seek voter approval to renew a millage levy to pay for the service.

The board by a 4-1 vote approved renewing a contract with Henry Compton of South Haven to manage the township landfill. The cost was increased from $80 to $100 a week. Trustee Ed Post cast the dissenting vote, objecting to a clause providing retroactive payment at the increased rate to last January.

The board adopted a resolution supporting efforts by the Van Buren county drain commissioner to seek federal disaster assistance to repair the Randall drain, which was heavily damaged by the April 19 storm. Repairs are expected to cost $20,000. Without federal funds the repairs could cost the township $2,000 to $4,000.

The board learned from the Southwest Michigan Regional Planning commission that it has until July 1 to give evidence that it is undertaking a shoreland management program to regulate construction of buildings on property considered high-risk erosion areas.

The regional agency notified the township that setback requirements have been determined as follows: city limits south to 11th avenue, no closer than 190 feet; 11th avenue to southern township boundary, no closer than 80 feet.

Failure by the township to undertake a shoreland management program would result in the Michigan Department of Natural Resources assuming the responsibility.

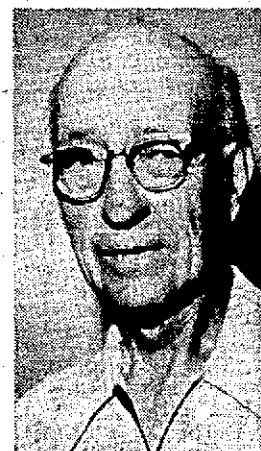

The board said it did not object if the city of South Haven were to extend sewer service to an apartment building proposed for construction by Jerry Wretzke on Blue Star Memorial highway near Superior street.

The board learned that its federal revenue sharing funds would total $14,793 between July 1 of this year and June 30, 1976.

The board voted to continue to investigate the feasibility of providing space in the township hall for several Van Buren county agencies which wish to extend their services to South Haven area residents. Cost of undertaking remodeling work of township hall has been estimated at $7,500 to $8,000.

Named to the construction board of appeals were Jay Wood, Marty Strebek and Edgar Olson.

Cleveland Avenue Crash Takes Life Of Young Stevensville Motocyclist

A Stevensville youth was killed Wednesday evening when he was thrown from his motorcycle as it apparently went out of control on Cleveland avenue, Berrien township, Berrien County, officers reported.

Scott Allen Johnson, 19, of 404 Jericho road, was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital when an autopsy was scheduled today to determine the exact cause of death.

Sheriff's officers said the accident occurred as the youth was heading south on Cleveland avenue near Shawnee road.

Stanley Smith, of 1709 Jaymee drive, Baroda, said he was also northbound on Cleveland and had signaled for a left turn when he saw the motorcycle approaching in his rearview mirror. Smith told deputies the motocyclist turned out into the lane on the left as if to pass his car then went out of control.

According to the accident report, the motorcycle skidded about 80 feet and then Johnson apparently was thrown from the cycle into a road sign post. The cycle was stopped by a bush near a parking lot.

Chief John Harner of the Baroda-Lake township police department assisted in the accident investigation.

His death was the 14th this year on Berrien county roads. Last year at this time eight people had been killed in Berrien county traffic accidents.

Scott was a 10th grade student at Lakeshore high school.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Donald (Dixie) Cooper, Stevensville; his father, Darwyn Johnson, Benton Harbor; two sisters, Holly Johnson and Lynette Cooper, both at home; a brother, Donald J. Cooper, at home; his grandmothers, Mrs. Lillian Bodtke, St. Joseph and Mrs. Annah Johnson, Benton Harbor.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday in Kerley and Sparks funeral home, where friends may call after 7 this evening. Burial will be in Stevensville cemetery.

Allegan Girl, 12, Dies In Wringer

HOLLAND — A 12-year-old Allegan county girl died yesterday afternoon after her arm was caught in the rollers of a wringer washer at her home.

Cheri Naber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Naber, of rural Fillmore township, east of here, was pronounced dead on arrival at Zeeland hospital as a result of severe shock, authorities said.

Allegan county sheriff's deputies said the victim was rinsing out rugs in a washer located in the basement of the home about 4:20 p.m. yesterday when her arm became entangled in the rollers of the machine.

The victim was trapped in the machine for about 10 minutes as the parents were outside washing the family's boat, deputies said.

Warriors' Rally Puts Bulls Out To Pasture

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors head into the National Basketball Association championship series the same way they opened the season, as decided underdogs.

"But if we play like this against Washington, we're going to give them a battle," said Rick Barry, whose 14 points in a fourth quarter drive Wednesday night led the Warriors to an 83-79 victory over the Chicago Bulls in the decisive seventh game of the Western Conference finals.

Washington's Bullets, who dethroned the defending NBA champion Boston Celtics to win the Eastern Conference title, will host the first game of the playoff finals Sunday in Landover, Md.

The Bulls were favored over Golden State, having beaten the Warriors in three of four regular-season meetings, and the Bulls led the series 3-2 going into Game 6 last Sunday on their home court.

"We had our chance in Chicago and let it slip away," Bulls Coach Dick Motta said. "We got a second chance here but just weren't up to it."

The Warriors, who won 86-72 with Barry scoring 36 points Sunday, trailed by as many as 14 points Wednesday night as Barry made just two of his first 15 shots. Their successful catch-up drive began late in the third period after Coach Al Attles had brought Barry to the bench for the third time in the game.

"I don't think I've ever seen a game more symbolic of team effort than this one. We got great performances from people who hadn't been playing much," said Attles.

"Then Rick got off and running in the fourth quarter, and that was the ballgame," Attles concluded.

"Keith Wilkes kept us in the game," said Barry, praising the rookie forward who scored 23 points, one more than Barry's total. Wilkes also guarded Bob Love, who made just six of 26 shots.

Reserve center George Johnson made sure the victory didn't get away, blocking four Chicago shots in the final three minutes.

"He hurt us. Those blocked shots turned the tide. All four shots were close in," said Motta.

The Bulls made minimum use of their bench, "and that's why they lost," Golden State guard Butch Beard said.

The Warriors lost four important members of their 1973-74 team — Nate Thurmond, Clyde Lee, Cazzie Russell and Jim Barnett — but instead of settling for a rebuilding year they won the Pacific Division championship.

"There's no telling what this team can do. It's been an amazing season," said veteran Jeff Mullins.

The Warriors were 1-3 against Washington during the regular season, and their first two home games of the title series May 20 and 23 will be, in effect, on a neutral court, San Francisco's Cow Palace where they haven't played since 1971. An ice show is booked into the Oakland Coliseum Arena next week.

Wednesday night's come-back victory was the third of the series for the Warriors, who trailed by nine before winning in Chicago Sunday and battled from 19 points back to win Game 4 here.

"That tells a lot about this team," said Barry. "You're not supposed to do that against Chicago."

Attles and the Warriors felt that defense, as well as Barry's field goal shooting down the stretch, produced the victory.

But Motta said, "We just didn't get good shooting performances from people who usually carry us."

Chet Walker was the top Chicago scorer, with 21 points, but had only seven after the first half. Love totaled 17 points, six under his average for the playoffs.

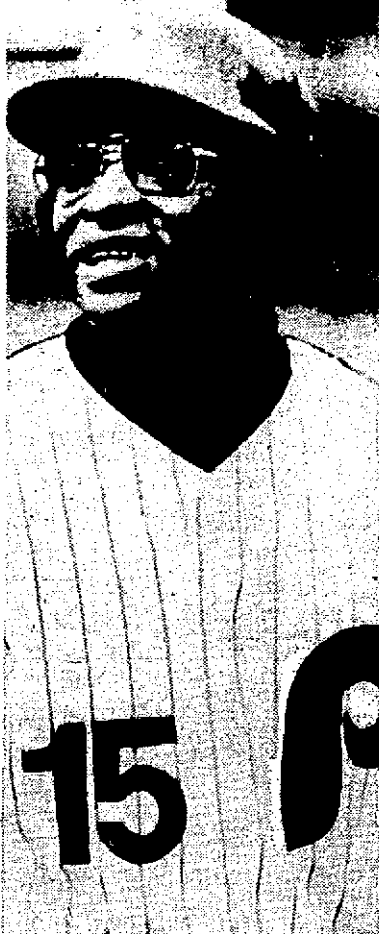

"We stopped running our offense like we can and I can't figure out why," said Bulls guard Jerry Sloan, who had 14 points but was shut out in the final quarter when Chicago made just four of 20 shots.

The Bulls' biggest lead was 45-31 late in the second quarter. They were ahead 65-59 after three quarters, but Barry came back with 9:30 to play in the game and popped in three straight shots to create a 67-57 tie.

Golden State went ahead to stay, 75-73, when Charles Johnson stole the ball from the 36-year-old Walker and flipped it downcourt to Wilkes for an easy basket with 2:37 left.

The Warriors built a six-point lead before the game ended, and the 12,787 fans who had little to yell about earlier more than made up for it in the closing minutes.

BACK IN LINEUP: Dick Allen's name appeared in a major league lineup for the first time in 248 days since his "retirement" from the Chicago White Sox last fall Wednesday when he returned to the Philadelphia Phillies as fifth man in their batting order. Houston Guns Down Cubs With Rader

From Associated Press

Dick Allen finally learned Wednesday night why Philadelphia is called the City of Brotherly Love.

The good burghers of that Pennsylvania metropolis, who have been accused of booing funerals, welcomed Allen back to baseball with three standing ovations. And the controversial slugger came through with a single his first time up as the Phillies blanked the Cincinnati Reds 4-0 behind Steve Carlton's seven-hit pitching.

"They showed me what kind of town this could be," said Allen, who spent the first six years of his career in Philadelphia and was one of the boobies' favorite targets. "I'd like to see it stay that way, and I think it will as long as I produce."

but baseball's eyes were on the 33-year-old Allen, who hadn't faced a major league pitcher in 248 days since his tearful "retirement" from the Chicago White Sox last September. After his first-inning single off rookie Pat Darcy, Allen flied out and grounded out before leaving in the seventh inning to rest a slightly sprained ankle. He handled seven chances cleanly at first base.

Carlton banded the Reds their second consecutive shutout. Greg Luzinski singled home the only run he needed in the first inning. Larry Doby delivered an RBI single in the sixth and the Phillies got their final two runs in the eighth on a double by Garry Maddox, singles by Luzinski and Tommy Hutton — Allen's replacement — and an infield hit by Carlton.

Elsewhere in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4, the Houston Astros outslugged the Chicago Cubs 11-7, the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the San Diego Padres 5-4 in 11 innings, the New York Mets trimmed the San Francisco Giants 5-1 and the Montreal Expos edged the Atlanta Braves 5-4.

Ted Simmons' two-run double and Ken Reitz' two-run single highlighted a five-run rally in the third inning. Simmons' bases-loaded ground-rule smash that bounced over the left field wall brought the Cardinals from behind against Doug Rau. Reitz followed with a drive off the foot of relief pitcher Rick Rhoden, capping the uprising.

Doug Rader slammed a two-run homer in the first inning and a three-run blast in the seventh. Tom Griffin won his first game in six decisions but was replaced in the sixth when the Cubs scored two runs, narrowing the margin to 6-5.

Bill Robinson singled home the winning run with two out in the 11th inning off Bill Greif after Dave Parker drilled a one-out double. The Padres tied the game in the eighth on a run-scoring double by Dave Winfield and an RBI single by Willie McCovey, who also blasted his fourth homer in the

Tigers 'Consistent' Losers

Loss To Royals Ninth In 12 Games

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers are finally developing some consistency — they're consistently losing.

"They haven't been hitting and their pitching is beginning to look as poor as critics in spring training said it would."

Wednesday night's 4-1 loss to the Kansas City Royals was the ninth loss for the Tigers in their last 12 games.

"They concluded the home-stand with a 3-8 record and will begin a 10-game road trip Friday in Texas after playing an exhibition tonight in Evansville, Ind., against their Triple-A farm club."

Detroit dropped to fourth place in the American League East, three games behind leader Milwaukee and two percentage points behind third-place Baltimore.

Manager Ralph Houk would like to let on he's not concerned. "But he wasn't exactly calm after the latest loss as he jumped down the throat of a photographer in his clubhouse office, saying, 'Don't you know you're supposed to get permission before you can take pictures in here!'"

"I'm not concerned," he said later. "We just have to put things together. We've got some things looking pretty good."

Whatever they are, they didn't look good Wednesday. Singles by Gene Michael in the third and fifth innings were the only Detroit hits off Nelson Briles until a two-out, two-run rally in the ninth inning produced a run to ruin the shutout.

Nate Colbert beat out an infield single, Bill Freehan hit a bloop single, and Leon Roberts extended his hitting streak to 16 games with an RBI single. It's the longest hitting streak for the Tigers since Willie Horton had one of 16 games in 1970.

Joe Coleman lasted only 5 1/3 innings, losing his fifth game in seven decisions for the Tigers. He walked four, threw three wild pitches and was behind most batters.

"Our pitching should get better now," Houk insisted. "We've got a regular rotation going. The guys had been pitching with five days rest, then three days, then six days ... They haven't been able to set themselves up in one pattern."

"It'll be interesting to see how the pitching looks in Texas. They are all pitching when they should be with the right amount of rest."

Vada Pinson greeted Coleman with a home run to open the game. He added a run-scoring single in the second inning, then doubled in the fifth and scored on a double by George Brett, who moved to third on a single by Hal McRae and came home on John Mayberry's ground out.

The ninth-inning Tiger rally was doused when John Knox looped a drive to left field which Jim Wohlford nearly caught at his shoetops. Freehan had to hold up on second. When the ball fell in, he ran to third but was out on a force play.

"The umpire blocked him out and he thought Wohlford caught it," Houk said. Freehan, however, said Wohlford himself blocked the view when he rolled over after his diving try.

The victory raised Briles' record to 4-1 and pulled third-place K.C. to within three games of American League West front-runner Oakland heading into a four-game series beginning tonight in Boston.

"He pitched one heck of a ballgame," Tiger first baseman Nate Colbert said of Briles, whom he faced for many years in the National League. "His placement of pitches was a factor and the way he mixed them up ... Baskally he's the same kind of pitcher but I've never seen him throw as hard as tonight."

Briles sloughed off the compliment.

"That's caused from changing speeds," the handsome right-hander said. "That makes faster pitches look a little faster."

Boys, Girls Regional On Weekend Heavy Track Action Slated

Take your marks... get set... BANG!

Every high school runner in southwestern Michigan — boys and girls alike — will answer that traditional starter's command this weekend in the 1975 Michigan High School Athletic Association regional track and field meets.

Boys competition will include the Class A meet Saturday at Houseman Field in Grand Rapids, the Class B meet Friday night at Sturgis and the combined Class C-D Friday at Watervliet.

Girls also will compete in four separate classes for the first time in three years of state-sponsored regional competition. The Class A meet will be held Friday night at Kalamazoo Central high school, the Class B meet Saturday at Otsego, the Class C meet Friday night at Constantine and the Class D meet Saturday at Mendon.

Berrien Springs, which has won four invitational championships already this spring, will be favored to win the Class C boys meet at Watervliet and is the only boys' team in any class playing the favorite's role.

The Berrien Springs girls also will be favored to win their own Class C title while Lakeshore ranks as the favorite in the Class B girls' meet at Otsego.

Defending champion Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills, rival Grand Rapids Creston and Big Six power Loy Norrix figure to battle it out for top honors in the Class A boys' meet at Grand Rapids, which starts with field events, and preliminaries at 10 a.m. and finals at 1:45 p.m.

Benton Harbor, Niles and St. Joseph will represent this area in the meet, which is being combined with a Class B regional.

All seven Class B schools from this area — Brandywine, Buchanan, Coloma, Dowagiac, Lakeshore, Paw Paw and South Haven — will be competing Friday at Sturgis, where preliminaries and field events will begin at 2:30 p.m. and the finals start at 5:30.

Watervliet's combined Class C-D meet will start at 2:00 p.m. and finals will begin at 6:30.

The 17-school Class C field includes Bangor, Berrien Springs, Bloomingdale, Cassopolis, Decatur, Eau Claire, Edwardsburg, Fennville, Hartford, Lake Michigan Catholic, New Buffalo, River Valley and Watervliet from this area while the Class D field includes Bridgman, Covert, Galien, Gobles, Lawrence, Lawton and Michigan Lutheran.

Host Kalamazoo Central, which won the girls' Class A-B regional title last year at St. Joseph, will be favored in the Class A meet. St. Joe figures to be a strong contender and Benton Harbor's Carmella Hull is an individual threat in the sprints. Preliminaries start at 3 p.m. and finals at 6 p.m.

Lakeshore's girls already have won the Otsego Relays in impressive fashion at the site of Saturday's regional and will be out to capture another trophy in a field that includes Buchanan, Coloma, Dowagiac, Paw Paw and South Haven. Preliminaries begin at 10 a.m. and finals at 1:30 p.m.

Bangor, Bloomingdale, Decatur, Eau Claire, Fennville, New Buffalo, River Valley and Watervliet girls will join Berrien Springs in the Class C meet at Constantine, which has scheduled preliminaries starting at 10 a.m. Saturday and finals at 1 p.m.

Bridgman's sprinters will be the leading area representatives in the Class D meet at Mendon, which has preliminaries starting at 10 a.m. Saturday and finals at 1 p.m.

Other area teams competing will be Galien, Gobles and Lawrence.

South Haven, Coloma Out Of Baseball Tournaments

For the first time in five years, South Haven won't have a team in the Class B district baseball tournament.

Coach Jim McCloughan's Rams were bumped by Dowagiac 3-2 in a qualifying contest Wednesday in which both teams socked five hits.

"This is the first time we won't be in the district tourney since it was founded," explained the South Haven coach. One other qualifying contest had Vicksburg blanking Coloma 9-0.

Lawrence slid into a second place tie with Decatur for the current runnerup spot in the SAC after dropping a 6-4 contest to Marcellus. Also in the SAC, first place Bloomingdale absorbed a 5-0 non-conference whitewash at the hands of Hackett, and Martin clubbed Lawton 12-0.

Lakeshore trimmed Berrien Springs 8-6. Eau Claire took Michigan Lutheran 5-2 and Bangor whipped Mattawan 7-6 in their KVA scrap.

Lenny Stover sprinted from second to home after a wild Ram throw at first to scored the winning Dowagiac run. Stover got two of the Chiefs' five hits, while Denny Grady tripled. South Haven ace Dave Gumpert lost the pitching duel to Primley. Mike Sweet had two hits for the Rams.

Coloma was held to singles by Ray Eltzroth and Tom Vander-vort as the Comets dropped to 7-7 overall with the loss. Not one Coloma runner reach second as the team continued its scoring slump of just three runs in the past four games.

Marcellus continued its mastery over Lawrence, which stranded 11 runners in the loss.

Dave Congdon, Ken LeTourneau and Mark Mills managed singles for Lawrence, now 5-2 in the league. Dana Rowe and Congdon combined for nine Lawrence strikeouts.

Bloomingdale — which rules the roost in the SAC with a 7-0 record — fell apart defensively in the sixth inning against Hackett. Kalamazoo was aided by five Bloomingdale errors that frame after being held hitless through four innings.

Scott Harris, Steve Allen and Jeff Melvin had hits for the Cardinals, now 9-5 overall.

Kevin Burke had two of three Lawton hits in the lopsided loss to Martin. Martin punched across six runs in the third inning.

Both Lakeshore and Berrien Springs had one hit for each of their runs.

Tim Farrow notched the huriling win in relief of Marty Mason. Farrow had three hits, Dave Baker two good for two RBIs. Mike Knapp had a pair of RBIs from sacrifices.

Barry Adams again, led Shamrock hitting going two-for-four including a double. Tim Sammons had two RBIs, while Jim Brohman socked a homer and single.

The Beavers got past Michigan Lutheran in eight innings. Paul Bailey had two Eau Claire hits, while Al Flowers socked a triple. Dan Briney a double for the Beavers.

Ron Briney had two of the three Titan hits. Coach Elmer Dobberstein's team is at .500 with a 4-4 showing.

Bangor is lodged in second place in the KVA race after getting past Mattawan 7-6 in nine innings.

Mark Lull scored the winning run after doubling, going to third on a sacrifice fly then taking home after a throwing error. Lull notched the pitching win with a snappy two-hit, 12 strikeout performance.

John Dentzman had three hits for the Vikings, while Jeff Shine doubled for Bangor, now 5-3 in the league and 8-4 overall.

The Bangor-Mattawan game was a continuation of an earlier contest halted by rain in the seventh with the score tied 6-6.

NEW ABA CZAR? — Dave DeBusschere, vice president and general manager of the New York Nets, reportedly will be named the seventh commissioner of the American Basketball Association. He formerly played for the Detroit Pistons and New York Knicks. (AP Wirephoto)

Thompson, Dow Power Paw Paw

Mike Thompson and Ed Dow turned in super performances for Paw Paw as the Redskins breezed past Comstock 72-50 in Wolverine conference track Wednesday.

Thompson turned in the best 880 clocking in the area with a 1:58 flat effort, while Dow captured four individual firsts including a school record 6'6" high jump. Dow also won the shot put and both hurdle races.

Teammate Chuck Brynelsen lowered his honor roll time in the mile to 4:30.2, while Leroy Rushing took first in the 220 yard dash and soared to the second area best in the long jump at 22'3".

Frank Yankovich won the pole vault and shotput, but it wasn't enough as Bangor lost to Galesburg-Augusta 62-56.

South Haven ended its regular dual season with a 75-48 loss to Vicksburg. The Rams posted a 0-8 league showing.

Andy Newell won the 100 and 220 yard dashes for South Haven.

Awesome Kalamazoo Loy Norrix routed Dowagiac 104-19. Chief miler Tim Pugh had an honor roll time of 4:32.0, but still had to settle for second place. Dennis Bacon was a double winner for Dowagiac, with victories in the 120 high hurdles and long jump.

Bears Blast Harbor, 9-1

By DAVE DELANEY
Staff Sports Writer

St. Joseph's non-conference baseball encounter with Benton Harbor yesterday was strictly a case of no contest.

Mickey Ott did the chucking, and seven of the nine St. Joe starters did the hitting, as coach Dave Durr's Bears swamped the Tigers 9-1 on the Tigers' diamond.

Ott fashioned a one-hitter and had a shutout going until Harbor catcher John Hamilton scored Mike Howard from second in the last inning after a dropped fly ball to right field.

But until the seventh inning it was all St. Joseph as the Bears allowed only one runner to reach second against them.

Ott fired nine strikeouts and walked just two batters. The end couldn't come soon enough for Tiger hurler Bart Bodke who was mauled for 14 hits — a season high for St. Joe. Bodke fanned two, hit one and walked another. Ott owns a 5-1 mound record, Bodke is 3-1.

Mike Collier tripled home the first St. Joe score in the second frame and came home himself on a Steve Toney poke that was fumbled at first base.

Toney's double in the third scored a run before the Bears added three more tallies in the sixth when Gerald Wolf smacked a two RBI double and immediately raced home after a Tiger throwing error.

Wolf singled in another run in the seventh, while Rick Dyer's double soon scored the final two runs.

Dyer collected four hits in five attempts for the winners, while catcher Mike Priebe and Ott added two hits each to the St. Joe attack.

St. Joe upped its record to 13-6 with the win. Benton Harbor is 6-12. The Tigers made five of the game's seven errors.

St. Joe Girls Outscore Cass

CASSOPOLIS — St. Joseph outlasted Cassopolis 14-13 in a girls' softball slugfest in which 18 runs crossed the plate in the final inning.

Jana Arent was the winning pitcher, with Sue Robach coming in for the Bears in the seventh to get the save.

St. Joe laced 13 hits, with four each coming off the bats of Sally Smith and Mary Ciaravino. Both had doubles.

Cass was held to eight hits. B. Goins homered, Linda Lee socked a triple. St. Joe is 6-4 with the victory.

Hoosiers, Illini Track Favorites

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Indiana Coach Coach Sam Bell knows one thing about the Big Ten Conference track meet Friday and Saturday — history is not going to repeat itself.

The Hoosiers, captured their second straight crown a year ago and fought in five years by an astounding 88 points.

"That was last year," says Bell, whose team has been hit by injuries. "We had a great team a year ago, and there just weren't any challengers around."

That has changed somewhat this season, although Bell sees only two teams battling for the team title in the 75th annual meet.

"Illinois is a lot better team than a year ago," says Bell. "Some of their freshmen are starting to come around and they have great leadership in Mike Durkin."

"Any way you analyze it, they have some super talent."

As for the rest of the conference, Bell is equally frank.

"I don't think there is anybody else to challenge, there are really only two with a

Tip Harbor, 4-3

Lakeshore netters defeated Benton Harbor 4-3 Wednesday for their second win over the Tigers inside a week.

In singles, Lakeshore's Wes Harper beat Mike Gross 4-4, 6-1, 6-4; Dan Johnson over Robert Reimer 8-1, 6-4 and a forfeit win. The lone Harbor singles win came by Dave Brown 7-5, 6-2.

The Lancers' Mark Stemm-Dave Haslett downed Sue Gatchell-Ray-Polston 6-0, 6-6 in doubles. For Harbor, it was Brad Boivin-Dave Bubbick over Mark Sanford-Bob Bengtsson 3-6, 7-6, 6-4 and Dan Carter-Jack Ackerman over Doug Smith-Dave DeLong 6-4, 6-4.

chance for team title. It would be the upset of the century if the title didn't go to us or Illinois."

Indiana took its third straight indoor title in early March, downing Illinois by 19 points, but has had troubles outdoors.

"We have problems — with both injuries and now illness," said Bell.

Standout sprinter Mike McFarland tied two conference records in scoring a double in the indoor, but has run only once outdoors this spring.

John Murphy, who has a season's best triple jump of 50 feet, 8 3/4 inches, was left behind in the university infirmary with a high fever, but probably would compete Friday.

And Doug Vine, who ranks No. 2 in the conference with a best of 50.104, has been slowed with a pulled muscle.

"If they can't compete or are not up to par that's 14 points were're not going to get and somebody else will," he notes.

"We have some problems, but we'll give a good try."

Illinois' bid also may hinge on health. Standout distance runner Craig Virgin has had injury problems this spring too.

But Durkin is healthy as is talented long-jump and triple-jumper Charlton Ehizuelen, who was slowed somewhat with illness a year ago.

Ehizuelen is the conference leader with a 53-11 triple and a 27-4 long jump, which is only a quarter inch off the national collegiate record.

Durkin is a threat to take both mile and half mile and Ehizuelen appears a sure double victor.

Besides Durkin in the mile, the other returning champions are Michigan State's Marshall Dill in the 100 and 220 dashes; Illinois' Mike Baetto (shot put); Michigan's Greg Meyer (sleeptchase) and Indiana's Phil Stapp (120 high hurdles).

The meet opens with three finals — long jump, discus and six-mile run — plus 12 preliminaries Friday evening and concludes Saturday afternoon with 15 finals.

Murray has starred in football, basketball and baseball at Phillips high school.

Indians, Lakers Stay Game Apart

Karen Leits stroked a home run and two doubles in getting four hits for Coloma. Peggy McCrenn had three of Coloma's 18 hits while Karen Luker and Jodi Ishmael, both doubled and singled. Chris Golas and Mar Kendall had two singles apiece. Kay Clark had a double for Dowagiac.

15 TONS OF FILES

Winston Aided Biographer

By GRAHAM HEATCOTE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — A laundry list can be history — if the bill was paid by Sir Winston Churchill.

One such list turned up in the files and helped his official biographer, Martin Gilbert, establish the date of Churchill's presence in Beirut exactly half a century ago.

Churchill's papers, from household receipts to secret cabinet notes on how he ran his end of the two world wars, were all filed by the staff of secretaries that he kept for most of his life. The files weigh 15 tons and rest today on the specially reinforced floor of a vault in Oxford.

Gilbert knows the files better than any man alive. He now has digested 10 tons of them in writing the official life of the statesman. Volume 4 covering the years 1917-1922 is being published here on June 2 by William Heinemann. Gilbert already has completed the manuscript of Volume 5 which goes up to the outbreak of World War II in 1939.

"The files contain virtually every letter that Churchill received," Gilbert said in an interview. "They also hold copies of 80 per cent of the letters he wrote, large numbers of notes — even of telephone conversations, memoranda and drafts of papers which he circulated, notes of all his speeches, family correspondence, literary efforts and full details of his finances."

Gilbert, a 38-year-old Oxford University historian, discovered that as early as 1915 Churchill wrote to his wife that he wanted the truth about his actions to be known one day.

"So he kept everything, and even the most trivial thing, like a hotel bill, helped me to establish a serious thing, like what he was doing, saying or even thinking on a particular day," Gilbert said.

The biographer said Churchill never kept a diary.

"A really busy man doesn't have time. Churchill usually worked until 2 a.m., slept until 7 a.m., then woke up, read all the newspapers and started dictating. His many, often daily, private letters are the equivalent of a diary," Gilbert said.

Gilbert got involved with Churchill in 1962 when he joined a small research team under Randolph Churchill, who was writing his father's life. Sir Winston died in 1965 and Randolph died in 1968. Two volumes for his father's first 30 years to the end of 1913 had been completed.

The trust in charge of the project asked Gilbert to take over and his Oxford college, Merton, gave him 10 years leave of absence.

Gilbert's first volume, No. 3 in the series, covered the years 1914-1916 and the Socialist politician Michael Foot said that whoever chose Gilbert as Randolph's successor "deserves the thanks of the nation."

Gilbert spends 8 to 12 hours daily on weekdays in research and correspondence with sources and writes up the week's material in longhand at weekends.

Gilbert sends proofs of each volume to about a dozen people who knew Churchill or who are experts on the different periods and six months' vigorous checking follows.

Gilbert said he found Churchill often was a pessimist.

"He felt that in the mass humans are destructive and seem intent on destroying themselves. Churchill wrote in 1922 that the 20th Century had so far been a 'terrible disappointment' and that a long series of disastrous events had darkened its first 20 years. He also warned that these disasters would continue."

Gilbert said that the biography proves the truth of the saying that men don't learn from history.

He said: "Volume 4 includes 200 pages on the Irish crisis of the 1920s. The British government was trying to set up a council of Ireland, just as it is today. The cabinet was arguing with the army on the scale of the response to the Irish republicans' shootings — just as it is today."

Gilbert said that Churchill had an "extraordinary faith in the democratic process. Churchill measured his attitude to an issue on how it reflected individual liberty. He had no patience with any regime that restricted individual freedom, whether Communist or fascist."

NOT SO SOLID: Rock along Pacific coast near San Francisco developed gaping hole. Totally hollow. It was built of wire mesh, cement and metal struts over 40 years ago as part of beautification program funded by WPA.

'Fair Trade' Prices May End

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — So-called "fair trade" would be ended in Michigan by a bill now before the Michigan House.

The measure would forbid stores from agreeing to set artificial, minimum prices and that could lead to lower retail prices in Michigan stores.

The House Consumer Affairs Committee unanimously adopted the measure, saying the Michigan minimums are often higher than prices in other states where firms are not allowed to collaborate.

Michigan's "Fair Trade Law" was adopted during the 1930s to protect small businesses from savage price-cutting by large firms, said Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who spoke in favor of the new law.

The existing fair trade law is "an anachronism the public can no longer afford... in today's economy," Kelley said.

The committee passed bill, sponsored by Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, would repeal the old "Fair Trade Law."

Consumers are cheated out of savings when stores agree not to drop their prices lower than a certain point, Kelley said.

A spot check by Kelley staffers showed retail prices 19-61 per cent higher on selected items in Michigan compared the same items in states without fair trade laws.

Johnson's Baby Powder cost 73 cents in Michigan and 59 cents elsewhere, Kelley said. A Sony Trinitron television set cost $399.95 in Michigan, up 21 per cent over the $499.95 price elsewhere and a set of Corning.

ware cost $12.88 in Michigan, compared to $7.84 in non fair trade states, for a 61 per cent difference, Kelley said.

President Ford last month supported federal moves to prohibit states from adopting fair trade laws. Consumers could save $2 billion a year nationwide by repealing such laws, Ford said.

Oregon, Washington and New York are among states that repealed their fair trade laws earlier this year, said Bullard.

"This misguided depression-era law hasn't done anything but allow the big manufacturers to engage in price-fixing at the expense of the consumer," Bullard said.

City Won't Pay Fees

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Jackson County Circuit Judge James Fleming has rejected Ann Arbor Mayor Albert Wheeler's request that the city of Ann Arbor pick up the tab for some $20,000 in legal fees stemming from his battle over the recent mayoral election.

Fleming said the Ann Arbor Board of Canvassers acted in good faith in the dispute between Wheeler and former Republican incumbent James Stephenson.

Fleming said there will be no recount of the Ann Arbor mayoral results until the courts determine the constitutionality of the city's unique preferential balloting system.

The recount had been requested by Stephenson.

Ask Your Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D.D.S.
And Michigan Dental Association

Q. I had some X-rays taken of my son last week. I didn't like the dentist or the fee he quoted for the work he said was necessary, so I called to cancel the appointment. When I asked him to send me the X-rays, he refused.

A. This situation pops up regularly in dentistry! As inconceivable as it may be to you and other dental patients, it is true that X-rays are the property of a dentist or a physician.

In a decision by the Supreme Court of Michigan, the Court said "It is a matter of common knowledge that X-rays are practically meaningless to the average layman. But their retention by the doctor constitutes an important part of his records."

They are as much a part of the patient's history as any other information obtained from the patient which will help the dentist or physician treat him properly.

Many dentists will forward X-rays to another dentist, as a courtesy to the patient or the other dentist. However, if a dentist has begun to render treatment to a patient and the patient decides he wants to go elsewhere, the original dentist would be unwise to surrender his X-rays, since they constitute the only record indicating the condition of the teeth before treatment was begun.

Q. I have a beautiful porcelain jacket on an upper front tooth. A recent X-ray shows an abscess at the tooth root end, and my dentist wants to drill a hole through the jacket and do a root canal filling. I just hate to have anything done to the jacket, for fear of having it broken. Have you any suggestions, please?

A. Not so many years ago, an abscess at the root end of a tooth was treated surgically, by cutting off the root end of the tooth after the root canal was filled. Nowadays, most endodontists (specialists in root canal fillings) merely do a root canal filling under sterile conditions and let nature heal the abscess, which it does.

However, in a case such as yours, it is possible to fill the end of the root with silver amalgam without opening the root canal by drilling through the tooth from within the mouth.

Without going into the technical details of the procedure, I can still explain it by telling you that an incision is made in the gum above the root end, the root is exposed, and a cavity is prepared in the root and filled with ordinary silver amalgam. Of course, the abscess tissue around the root end is removed and the area thoroughly cleansed before it is sutured.

This procedure seems to "do the trick" in situations such as yours.

Jane Austen Still Popular On 200th Birthday

By JEFF BRADLEY
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Jane Austen's novels have no lurid sex scenes, no crime, nor even religion. Yet their popularity seems to grow and this year the British celebrate the 200th anniversary of her birth.

There will be tours through Jane Austen country, an 18th century grand ball and country fair, a Jane Austen pageant, plays, music and special exhibitions, and the issue of four commemorative postage stamps.

"I suppose her appeal lies in the happy, restrained life style she writes about," explained Richard Knight, 31, the novelist's great-great-nephew.

"It's a glimpse of a rather peaceful 18th century life — no cars for a start."

The love of that gentle, Austen world of country manners three young children. "I suppose I'm a refugee from the world of corporate industrial complexes. Like Jane Austen, I think small is beautiful."

'Her Appeal Lies In The Happy, Restrained Life Style She Writes About' prompted Knight, a former newspaper reporter and television producer, to acquire a 700-acre beef, sheep and corn farm in Gloucestershire where he lives with his artist wife and

Knight and other family descendants make it clear they are proud of their association with the placid vicar's daughter whose books form required reading for school children throughout the world. Jane Austen was born in Steventon, Hampshire, on Dec. 16, 1775, the year the American Revolutionary War began. But passion is nowhere to be found in the intimately-detailed novels of provincial English life which Jane wrote and published anonymously in the early 1800's.

Her most famous book, "Pride and Prejudice," was also her first, and critics favor later works such as "Emma," and "Mansfield Park," not to mention "Sense and Sensibility," "Northanger Abbey" and "Persuasion."

Jane, something of a homebody, was the seventh of eight children and never married.

"I suppose she was too busy writing books," said Mrs. Elizabeth Rose, caretaker of the Jane Austen Museum in Chawton, Hampshire, where Jane lived modestly with her mother and sister.

Mrs. Rose, Knight's aunt, is another Austen descendant, although she admits she hasn't read the novels in years. They are descended from Jane's brother, Edward, who was adopted at 12 years of age by wealthy cousins, the Knight family, owners of elegant Chawton House.

The Knights still own the estate and it will be the site of the July 18 bicentenary meeting of the 1,400-member Jane Austen Society, which includes 250 Americans.

Jane's house, once part of the Chawton Estate, dates back to the 16th century and is a five-bedroom, oak-beam cottage where she did most of her work. Last year 30,000 visitors, about one-third Americans or other foreigners, paid the 50 cent entrance fee.

"It's just as she lived in it," said Mrs. Rose. "We even have a patchwork quilt she made with her mother." American and Canadian collectors are contributing to a loan exhibition of Austen treasures to be held at the museum in July and August, with festivities planned July 18-20 when children will dance around the maypole in Jane Austen's garden.

A village cricket team, dressed 18th-century style, will meet a rival team from nearby Steventon, which plans celebrations of its own July 25-27 including a costume ball and fair and a pageant tracing local history from the reign of Queen Elizabeth I to Elizabeth II, the current monarch.

The cities of Winchester and Bath plan other observances later in the year. Jane died in Winchester on July 18, 1817 when she was 41. She had gone there to see a doctor about her failing health.

"Some say she died of Addison's Disease, but others think it was cancer," said Mrs. Rose.

Austen Society secretary, Sir Hugh Smiley, admits it's his wife, and not he, who is passionate about the Austen novels. But he has already launched the year's celebrations by opening a Jane Austen garden on slopes above the English Channel in Lyme Regis, Dorset, at a site the writer is said to have used in her book, "Persuasion."

BEETLE FLIPS: Keith Hendrickson and Terry Belanger, left, paddle their vessel in the "anything that floats" class of a recent Whitewater Canoe Race in Escanaba, Mich. Their "rig" was a beetle body perched top of seven 50-gallon drums and entered the eight-and-one-half mile race along with 107 other vessels. The floating beetle capsized after striking a tree a mile from the finish, but went on to finish race in 3 hours ten minutes. In right photo body of car is submerged under the drums, the way it finished race. (AP Wirephoto)

Carnivals Drop Girlie Shows

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Girlie shows are out and rides are in because carnival goers want to get their thrills firsthand, says the president of the Outdoor Amusement Business Association.

"The public has gone from being a voyeur to a participant," Bernard Thomas said in an interview Wednesday. "The only way to get sensation from a ride is to participate. You can't get the sensation by watching."

Nobody Knew Boy Behind Jack Armstrong 'Voice'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A real blast from the past blew into town this week — Jack Armstrong, the All-American Boy. The original Jack Armstrong from the golden days of radio. But it took no secret decoder ring to learn his true identity. Jim Ameche, 59, readily admitted he played the apple-cheeked, clean-living, globe-trotting hero of Hudson High from 1933, when the daily series began, until 1939, when he left the show for a new series. Oddly enough, he says, the millions who followed Jack's adventures each weekday never were told by the sponsor or the radio network CBS, then NBC that the younger brother of actor Don Ameche played Jack. "They always kept the identity of Jack Armstrong a secret to heighten interest in the series," he laughed, adding that even he didn't know who succeeded him as the series continued until 1951. "Nobody ever knew I was Jack Armstrong when I was on the show. Even the picture they released was a composite. There was an unwritten law against revealing who played Jack." Ameche, who now lives and does commercials in Nashville, Tenn., after years of radio work here and in Los Angeles, said he was an 18-year-old kid fresh out of high school when tapped to play Jack Armstrong. A native of Kenosha, Wis., he said General Mills, the show's sponsor, had held auditions throughout the Midwest for the part. He said he gave it a try and got the job, even though he'd never worked in radio before. "I guess I had a natural bent for that kind of thing," said Ameche, adding that his prior experience consisted of high school debating and acting. He said he was hired to play Armstrong for $9.50 a week and did two live shows, five days a week, from Chicago. "It took off like a skyrocket from the word go," he said, laughing when asked if Jack Armstrong ever chased girls, drank or smoked as do some teenaged TV characters in these days of realism. "No, nothing like that," he said. "I never even chased girls, or at least in the years I was on the show. My closest chum on the show was a guy named Billy Fairfield. "He had a sister named Betty, but she was like another boy." He said his contract never specifically barred him from doing things like drinking, smoking or chasing girls which, were it publicly known, might mar the relentless wholesome Jack Armstrong image. "But that wasn't a problem in those days," he said. "Kids just didn't get that involved. It was a much more innocent world. Kids were dumb" — he began laughing — "and I don't think they grew up until they were 30 years old." A true Jack Armstrong fan then always could be found cutting out Wheaties boxtops, adding cash and sending away for Jack Armstrong hike-o-meters, explorer telescopes and torpedo flashlights. Alas, the original Jack Armstrong owns none of these memorabilia. "I never got any," sighed Jim Ameche. "I guess I forgot to send in my boxtops."

THEY NEVER KNEW: Jim Ameche, 59, holds artist's conception of radio's Jack Armstrong, the apple-cheeked hero of Hudson High. Millions of listeners who followed Jack's adventures in the 1930's weren't told Ameche played the part. (AP Wirephoto)

Nevada Challenging California Ports

By JACK LEFLER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Would you believe the ports of Reno and Las Vegas? There isn't enough water around those Nevada cities for cargo vessels, but they are challenging the ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach for shippers' business. How can they do it? They offer tax-free status for goods arriving in containers in contrast to taxation imposed by Los Angeles County and several other California counties. Shippers whose goods are transported in containers are eager to use "ports" where there are no inventory, container, franchise, corporate income, personal income and inheritance taxes, and low property, sales and use taxes. Some shippers say it is cheaper to load their cargo-filled containers onto trucks after they arrive at Los Angeles or Long Beach harbors and haul them to Reno or Las Vegas, where they are opened and the goods in them are trucked to Western markets. This situation stems from the conflicting interpretations of what is an "original package." Los Angeles County Assessor Philip Watson maintains a container is the original package, and when it is opened the contents are subject to an ad valorem tax based on a partial value of the goods. But shippers argue that containers are a means of transportation.

The shippers contend levying the tax against those whose goods arrive in this country in containers discriminates against them. They point out that goods arriving in a container are subject to the tax when the container is opened but the same goods arriving in bulk form or on wooden pallets are not subject to the tax until they are opened at the buyer's place of business. In many cases that is outside Los Angeles County. A test of the tax's legality is slowly winding its way through the courts. An attempt to exempt the containers from the tax failed in the state legislature in 1973. The Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram, in an investigative article recently, said just how much cargo is being diverted to ports outside of California is not known. But it added that the Los Angeles and Long Beach harbor departments have estimated that the two ports are losing approximately the equivalent of $4,000, twenty-foot containers per month to "ports" such as Reno and Las Vegas outside California.

COVERS ALCOHOLISM
WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) — A recent survey of 17 insurance companies writing group disability insurance in the United States shows all of them will cover loss of income resulting from alcoholism.

Jenner: Nixon, Aides Damaged Lawyers' Image

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The minority counsel for the House Judiciary Committee's Watergate investigation says Richard Nixon, "yielded to avarice and greed" while he was president. Albert Jenner said Wednesday that by such action, Nixon and many of his top aides, all lawyers, damaged public faith in the legal profession.

Conduct Code Asked By Judge

DETROIT (AP) — A conduct code for Detroit public school students was ordered Wednesday by U.S. District Court Judge Robert DeMaio. He said he was concerned about violence resulting from an upcoming school year plan. The judge, who has the responsibility to institute a busing plan, said he understood school discipline is not being maintained.

RESIGNS: Fred Byers has resigned after 10 years with Benton Harbor police department. His last position was as detective. No reason for resignation was disclosed. Byers will take job as salesman for Zerbel GMC, Inc., 1862 East Napier avenue, Benton township, later this month. (Staff photo)

Car Sale Slump Continues

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto makers apparently have given up hope for a spring upturn after car sales in early May fell 21 per cent from a year ago to the lowest pace for the period in 17 years. All four major U.S. firms reported Wednesday that sales for the May 1-10 period declined from 1974. Two of them said sales also were off from early April. "We're no longer looking for a rebound," conceded one company analyst, who had predicted a spring upturn first for April, and later for May.

Both Sides Reject Offers

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A contract offer from General Telephone Co. of Michigan and a union counter proposal have been rejected. Company officials said they rejected the plan from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Tuesday after the union turned down the company offer. The company offered a three-year contract it claimed would boost wages about 25 per cent. A spokesman said wage, pension and other benefits would be raised about 10.5 per cent in each year of the contract.

State Police Keep LEIU

FAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State Police say they have no plans to drop membership in a nationwide intelligence network that came under attack Tuesday for allegedly spying on ordinary citizens. Department Director George Halverson said he had no knowledge of any activities by the Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit involving such surveillance. "I am not aware of any kind of exchange of information" involving ordinary citizens, Halverson said. "There is no question that we would quit if the credibility of that organization was less than what we desire. There would be no reason for us to continue." The Houston Police Department has refused to supply further information on noncriminal activity to LEIU in the wake of allegations that the cooperative spied on ordinary citizens, Houston police sources said.

Says He's Governor Candidate

CENTERVILLE, Mich. (AP) — The lone Democrat on the Michigan Public Service Commission, William Ralls, says he's going to be a candidate for governor in 1978. Ralls, speaking to St. Joseph County Democrats Tuesday night in Centerville, said he wants to serve the Democratic Party and the state. He said he's running because he thinks he can win. During an informal question-and-answer period, Ralls said "I definitely am a candidate." Ralls has been the lone dissenter in recent utility rate hikes approved by the PSC.

Contract Signed With Jordan

DETROIT (AP) — AM General, a subsidiary of American Motors Corp., has signed an $11.9 million contract with the government of Jordan for trucks and spare parts, the company said Wednesday. AM General, based in South Bend, Ind., said it will deliver 543 quarter-ton and five-ton trucks to the Mideast nation beginning in November. The subsidiary said Jordan has an option in the agreement to increase its truck order, raising the total contract price to $14.5 million. The agreement is the second AM General has made with a foreign government in recent weeks. The company announced earlier this month that it is selling 1,644 trucks to the government of Morocco for $54.3 million.

Richfield Recall Vote June 25

ROSCOMMON, Mich. (AP) — Residents of Roscommon County's Richfield Township decide June 25 if the township's supervisor should be recalled. The county's elections board set the recall date Tuesday. Some residents filed petitions accusing Supervisor Thaddeus Guszenda of failing to inform the township board about plans for a special assessment district, trying to change working hours of the police chief, and acting alone to fill posts on the board of review. Guszenda said he is innocent and the recall petitions were improper. But he added he added township officials decide to let a recall settle the issue rather than being involved in a prolonged court fight.

May Hold Statehood Vote

PARADISE, Mich. (AP) — Chippewa County township's residents will know June 6 if they will be voting on a proposal to make the Upper Peninsula the 51st state. Whitefish Township supervisors said Tuesday they will decide June 6 whether to hold an advisory vote on the issue. The request for a vote came from Jack Withey, a real estate agent in Paradise. Withey said he believes many residents favor separate statehood rather than being called North Michigan rather than Superior.

U.P. Bridge Hearing June 10

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Hearings on plans to build a huge new lock along the St. Marys River are set June 10. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers called the hearings as part of a study to decide if a new lock should be built and how large it should be. Present plans call for replacing one or both the oldest and smallest locks at Sault Ste. Marie with ones capable of handling vessels up to 1,300 feet long and 130 feet wide. The latest lock built in the area was the Poe Lock. That $40 million project was completed in 1969 but its capacity is limited to ships of about 1,000 feet in length.

Muskegon Okays Steel Mill

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — After six hours of testimony and debate, Muskegon City Commission approved two measures early Wednesday allowing construction of a $50 million steel mill. At 2 a.m., commission members voted to approved filling 57 acres now under the waters of Muskegon Lake and changing the zoning at the proposed mill site from light to heavy industrial. Both votes were 6-1. More than 1,000 persons attended the hearing on the new North Star Steel Co. mill. Residents of the area contended the mill could increase air and water pollution, become a noise problem and create traffic and safety hazards. But Theodore Leja of St. Paul, Minn., who will become the new plant's general manager, read a three-page statement answering many of those objections — at least to the commission majority's satisfaction. Robert Van Lente, a leader among the plant's foes, said after the commission decision that his group may continue its opposition in a federal court battle.

Reputed Mafia Figure Arrested

DETROIT (AP) — Reputed Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone was arrested Wednesday following indictments on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy, the FBI said. Neil Welsh, special agent in charge of the Detroit FBI office, said Giacalone, 50, of Miami, was arrested in downtown Detroit and would be held overnight in the Oakland County Jail pending arraignment Thursday before a U.S. Magistrate. Welsh said a federal grand jury in Detroit indicted Giacalone on two counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy. Kenneth Bernard, a prominent attorney and former president of Integrated Medical Services Ltd. of Troy, was named as an unindicted co-conspirator. Welsh said the indictments climaxed a two-and-a-half-year probe of Giacalone's relationship to the company, now defunct.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Advances Strongly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced strongly today, welcoming the news of the recovery of a U.S. container ship captured by Cambodians on Monday.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up about a point, and gainers took a 3-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

At a news conference early today, Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger called the recovery operation by Marines at a small Cambodian island "eminently successful."

Brokers said investors evidently were heartened by the news and relieved that no severe international complications appeared likely to arise from the situation.

In economic news, the government reported a net improvement in the U.S. balance of payments in the first quarter of this year.

Today's prices included American Home Products, up 1/4 at 39 1/2; General Motors, ahead 1/2 at 48 1/2; Beneficial Corp., 1/2 higher at 19 1/2; and Amerasia Hess, up 1/2 at 18 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 8.60 to 858.73, its highest close in more than 11 months.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about a 7-4 margin on the NYSE in turnover of 29.05 million shares — the heaviest total in almost four weeks.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks was up 38 at 48.83.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose 23 to 87.83.

Investors' Guide

Good Time To Learn About Fast Killings

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I am 27, single and take home $200 a week. I have tried several times to make a fast killing in the stock market, but usually suffered a large loss. My latest venture was in some stock I bought at 1 1/4 which is now down to 1/4 bid. (The person who recommended it has left town.) I think I've finally learned my lesson, and am ready to invest in good quality growth stocks for long-term appreciation.

A. I can't answer your question about this 25-cent stock, because I don't know it. However, I think your $400, plus, "tuition" bill in "fast killings" was well spent. Welcome to the conservative fold! Set up a monthly investment plan with any reputable brokerage firm and begin acquiring sound stock on a "dollar cost averaging" basis.

IRA DATA

Q. Please tell me where to get information on the new individual retirement act.

A. This act provides that this year, for the first time, anyone working for a company which does not have a pension or profit-sharing program may set aside funds for his own retirement. He may invest up to $1,500 a year, or 15 per cent of his income, whichever is less. The funds so used are a straight deduction from his taxable income and any income earned by this fund remains tax free until funds are withdrawn.

You can get all details at your nearest Federal Revenue Office. In addition, many savings institutions are advertising information about the program.

RETIREMENT ANNUITY

Q. I am stationed overseas and have $15,000 in savings. Is there some form of annuity that will give me a lifetime income beginning years from now? Or would it be best for me to buy securities?

A. You can buy annuities from large insurance companies and various religious, educational and social agencies licensed to sell them. You could put the money in now and request that payment start when you retire, which in your case would be seven years off. I am sure the finance officer on your base can steer you to a reputable insurance or charitable institution licensed in the U.S.

Having said that, I don't understand why you would want to demand money now for a fixed return to start in eight years — a fixed return for the rest of your life. That is one way to turn your back on inflation.

It seems to me that a person eight years from retirement should have some participation in U.S. industry via ownership of blue chip common stock. When he does retire, it will be time enough to look around for an income source.

BOTTOMLESS BUCKET

Q. I have $85,000 in banks drawing 7 1/2 to 7 per cent — probably averaging 6 per cent. If I draw $3,000 a year, how long will it last?

A. Forever — and then some. $85,000 earning 6 per cent generates $5,100 a year interest. So if HUGHES: Reclusive but not dead.

BERTOLUCCI: And now, '1900'.

Author Claims It's A Cover-Up Is Hughes Really Dead?

Q: With a Congressional investigation of Howard Hughes' involvement in the fishing up of that Russian sub finally bringing the reclusive Mr. Hughes out into the open? — D.F., Bakersfield, Calif.

A: Perhaps, but not if you believe a mysterious writer who was interviewed by London columnist William Hickey. The tolucci got his start making inexpensive message films that earned critical praise but little money. Since "Tango" grossed $50 million he has decided that popular films are more rewarding. So now he is directing a $6.5 million epic called "1900" a chronicle of Italy during the early part of the century. Among the film's many stars will not be Maria Schneider of "Last Tango" fame. She walked off the set early in the filming after a fight with Bertolucci.

Q: Can it be true that Joanne Woodward almost married the writer Gore Vidal? — E.T., Tenafly, N.J.

A: Gore says they were engaged many years ago before Paul Newman. After Paul appeared, the three of them shared a house together in Malibu.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Who will be the next secretary-general of the United Nations? Though Dr. Kurt Waldheim has more than a year left to serve, there's a strong lobby building up Mexico's President Dr. Luis Echeverria Alvarez.

Q: With all the oil money now going to Arabs, how long can J.

Paul Getty stay the richest man in the world? — D.N., South Bend, Ind.

A: Getty has probably already lost the crown to Muhammad Mahdi Al-Tajer, a computer-brained business wizard from the Persian Gulf states who also functions as ambassador-at-large for the United Arab Emirates. Muhammad, like Getty, maintains an estate in England and is reputed to have a personal fortune of $5 billion. And he is only 42. Can you top that, J. Paul?

Q: Is it time to ask who Jackie Onassis might marry next? — D.W., Oshkosh, Wis.

A: All we know is that Jackie's escorts are usually respectable, older, married men but she does go out with such single eligibles as Mike Nichols, Sen. John Tunney of California and lawyer William van der Hevel of New York. But if there is another wedding, her choice will probably surprise us all.

self-styled author claims that Hughes is actually dead but the fact is being suppressed to avoid endangering personal commitments made by Hughes for projects involving the CIA and the Pentagon. Hickey didn't believe a word of the story and neither do we. How about you?

Q: What is Italian movie director Bernardo Bertolucci planning that will top "The Last Tango in Paris"? — C.B., Kilgore, Tex.

BH Speech Program Deadline June 9

Applications for Benton Harbor area schools' summer speech program are due June 9, according to Milen Gray, director of the summer program. The program is scheduled to begin June 10 and run until July 18. There is no charge for the program. Parents and professional workers who plan to enroll youngsters in the program should return applications as soon as possible, Gray said.

Seven speech pathologists are scheduled to provide daily therapy on a small group or individual basis at the Stump Nickerson school, 2400 Nickerson avenue. Information on the program can be obtained by calling the Benton Harbor schools' special education office. Last year, more than 70 students from 3 to 18 years of age received therapy for a period of five weeks. The program is open to students from surrounding districts.

Main-Dish Casserole That Has Everything

Every woman knows it's no easy task to make inexpensive main dishes attractive, nutritious and tasty. But Food Editor Marilyn Hansen has devised one that really is all three — Ham 'n' Cheese Potato Casserole.

This is one main-dish casserole that doesn't lack flavor or texture because it's prepared with ham cubes and tangy cheddar cheese.

By serving it in a scalloped soufflé dish you can make it look elegant.

Complement the casserole with a gelatin and cottage cheese salad and a fruit dessert pizza.
